Disinherited by Sister, Who Wrote in Will of His Acts, John W. McCormick Begins Action to Win Part of Fortune

Would Have Documents Set Aside on Ground That Relatives Who Shared Prejudiced Deceased Against Him in Will

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Once more John W. McCormick has come into court in an effort to secure a share of the estate derived originally from the earnings of his father, a pioneer resident of this city. His suit now to break the will of Margaret J. McCormick, his sister, whose death occurred September 10, who before that time died possessed of a fortune of $25,000 to a sister, Mrs. Sarah Cosgrove, and who wrote into her will the following clause concerning the present plaintiff:

"I purpose to make no provision for my brother, John W. McCormick, as he has already received more than his share from my father's estate and because his cruel treatment of my mother, my late brother, my sister and myself has been such as not to entitle him to any recognition at my hands."

Coercion Is Urged in Food Problems

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 21.—The German papers print a second letter addressed by Field Marshal von Hindenburg to Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, emphasizing his belief that a certain amount of coercion is necessary for the solution of the food, war material and working power problem. As a result of the marshal's first letter dealing with these questions, the German economic council has issued an appeal to the farmers to use their utmost efforts in the production of foodstuffs.

Japanese Buying U. S. Securities $50,000,000 Invested in Six Months

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Within the last six months Japanese merchants and exporters have invested nearly $50,000,000 in American securities according to estimates in banking quarters. For the most part the securities were bonds, largely underlying railroad issues, although a substantial part consisted of mortgage bonds of industrial companies returning a high yield on the purchase price.

These investments are believed to be the outgrowth of the shifts of commerce already traceable to the European war. Japan has been shipping to the United States a great amount of goods formerly made by Germany and at the same time exports of silks and other Far Eastern products from Japan to this country have been stimulated because of the reduction in the European demand. As a consequence, Japan's trade balance with this country has been growing steadily, producing credits which either had to be transferred to the owner or put in the bank. The Japanese in the main have chosen the latter course.

DEPORTATIONS BY KAISER CONTINUED

Protests of America, Holland and Vatican Appear of No Avail.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Notwithstanding protests from America, Holland and the Vatican, Germany is still deporting Belgian workmen. Moreover, she is now registering, presumably for future deportation, all citizens of Switzerland and the duchy of Luxembourg who are residing in Belgium. A statement from the London office of the Belgian department of justice made these assertions today: The deportations of Belgium subjects continue without respite. The council of ministers at Brussels were arrested because they refused to communicate lists of unemployed to the German authorities. Deportations are continuing in the province of Hannuall and Wells and Flanders. Subjects of the duchy of Luxembourg and also of Switzerland residing in Belgium are compelled to register. A group of Luxembourgians have already been deported. The officer responsible for the deportation of Belgians to Germany, under the order recently issued, is the same officer who was responsible for the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, in Belgium. Lord Cecil stated in the House of Commons today.

Entire Council of Brussels Is Arrested

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A despatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam says: The entire Brussels city council, with the aldermen, were arrested November 17 for refusing to surrender lists of the city's unemployed. They were released after twenty-four hours when it was found that the lists had been taken by the Germans. As far as is known at Rotterdam no deportations from Brussels had occurred as late as Saturday.

BRITISH SHIP WINS RACE FROM U-BOAT

Siamese Prince, Fired Upon by Diver, Escapes Off France.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The British steamship Siamese Prince, returning in ballast after delivering a cargo of horses at Brest for the French government, was fired upon without warning, presumably by a German submarine off the French coast on November 4, according to officers of the vessel, which arrived here today. Three shots were fired, the officers said, two in quick succession, which passed over the port quarter and a third soon after, which dropped into the sea astern. The lifeboats were swung out, the crew of forty-two and the fifty-four hostlers, German life preservers and the ship put on full speed.

The craft which attacked was not sighted at any time, owing partly to weather conditions, and the officers of the Siamese Prince were unable to say whether their vessel was pursued. The hostlers included a great many Americans, it was said. The attack took place at 7 a. m., 200 miles at sea, while a heavy sea was running. No attempt was made to torpedo the ship, which is owned by Purness, Withy & Co., and which carried no passengers. The officers of the vessel judged that the attacking boat was about a mile distant.

Took Coin, Turned on Gas; Divorced

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Threats of suicide and other forms of cruelty practiced upon Mrs. Violet Podd by Alexander Podd, formerly well known in the theater world here, during the eleven days in which they were together as husband and wife, Judge Van Nostrand this morning granted her a divorce. She alleged in her complaint that Podd not only failed to provide her with food, but even took some of her earnings. On one occasion he almost made his throat of suicide, she declared, and was in the central emergency hospital for two days as a result.

NIGHT RELATIVELY CALM.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The official communication on the French front given out by the war office this afternoon says: "Artillery activity was maintained last night to a notable degree in the regions of Sailly and Beaumont. The night passed in relative calm everywhere else on the front."

Ship's Birthday To Be Celebrated

Mayor and Officials to Visit Barkentine

Ships are not, as a rule, given birthday celebrations, but the twenty-six-year-old barkentine, Charles F. Crocker, built in Oakland, will be paid that honor by Oakland city officials and shipping men at a reception on board tomorrow before she sails for Australia. Mayor John L. Davis, the commissioners and officials, including Chief Wharfinder Matheson, have been invited by B. H. Tietjen, owner of the Crocker, and Captain Winther, her commander.

Following the reception the Crocker will sail tomorrow for Australia from the new city wharf at the foot of Clay street. She was the largest vessel built in Oakland harbor at the time of her launching. Her builder was Charles H. White, who established the Pacific Shipyard Company, the first shipyard in Oakland. She established a lumber carrying record at that time, bringing 1,000,000 feet of lumber from the north. Since then she has made several off-shore trips. The Crocker returned home October 5, from Sydney, Australia, with 448 tons of copra.

Undertones and Undercurrents

Reich and Lievre advertising strives to speak in undertones—it attempts to sketch quietly and quickly the advantages of shopping at our Seven-Smart-Shop organization.

But however large this news may be—it is only a ripple on the surface.

The real undercurrent of Reich and Lievre value is reached through the shops themselves.

The news in our advertisements is but an invitation to see the other and better news—the undercurrent beneath the ripple.

Reductions are taken automatically, weekly, sometimes even daily. Such reductions are NOT advertised as "Sales," because women have tired of "sales" long ago.

Values may be had at this store EVERY day of the year and every hour of the day, and there's no need to come early. Come when you please and feel certain that the VALUES, service and courtesies will be HERE for ALL of the people, ALL of the time.

To insure Victor quality, always look for the famous trademark, "His Master's Voice." It is on every Victrola and every Victor Record. It is the identifying label on all genuine Victor Records.

Caruso chose the Victor

- because only the Victor gives you his voice exactly as it is
- because only the Victor thrills you with his mighty power
- because only the Victor charms and caresses you with all the delicate beauties of his subtlest tone shadings
- because only the Victor and Victor Records convey his matchless art to all the world for all time

Caruso is the mightiest singer the world has ever seen. He dominates the artistic world. By sheer force of his genius he has at his beck and call every resource known to his art. Only the best would suffice for such an artist. His choice of the Victor was a foregone conclusion. He decided that only the Victor could do full justice to his superb art, that only the Victor could thrill you with his power, that only the Victor could express in every fine detail the vocal subtlety of his softest tones. Hence it is that only on Victor Records can you hear him. And only on the Victrola can you hear him exactly as he is, in the tone-volume best suited to the environment in which you happen to be. Caruso's choice of the Victor demonstrates beyond question the Supremacy of the Victor.

WAR ON HIGH FOOD COST IS LAUNCHED

Women of Alameda County Plan to Halt Profit Taking in Much of Foodstuffs Known to Be Plentiful; Club Will Act

Bake Your Own Bread; Cut Out Middle Man, Ban Luxuries, Is New Slogan; Embargo on Shipments Being Asked

BARKLEY, Nov. 21.—Against the head-on attack of the High Cost of Living, an organization of three thousand women of the county has planned to fight to the bitter end. First of the war on high food cost is the embargo on the sale of luxuries. The plan is to stop the sale of luxuries, such as butter, eggs, and other foodstuffs, which are known to be plentiful. The women of the county have decided to act in a united way, and to demand that the government should take steps to reduce the cost of living. ## 'Dirty Liar!' Is Hurlled at Judge

Woman Resents 'Divine Fakir' Epithet

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—"You are a dirty liar and not fit to be on the bench!" So declared Estelle Olsen, arrested in a clairvoyant raid yesterday, as she "awung" lustily on Police Judge Maurice Oppenheim today. Two bailiffs and two detectives were needed to control the infuriated woman and get her into a jail cell. In the meantime Judge Oppenheim, recovering his composure, raised her $50 bail to $100 and held the case for trial.

Mrs. Olsen, who had been operating under the name of "Dumont," at 1150 Eighth street, was recognized in court as a former defendant in a white slave case, the judge remarking on this circumstance.

"I am a divine healer," she insisted. "You are a divine fakir," retorted the judge.

"You are a dirty liar and not fit to be on the bench!" screamed the defendant. Leaping from the witness chair she rushed to the judge's rail, aiming a blow at his head. Bailiffs seized her, but she beat them off, trying again to strike the judge. The defendant in the court room came to the judge's assistance, kicking and screaming the woman was hustled from the room.

The case will come up for trial in two days.

Wilson May Be Silent on Food Embargo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Despite much agitation in its favor, President Wilson is not expected to urge an embargo on food exports in his address to Congress. Petitions for some restriction have been piling up at the White House for several weeks and it has been predicted a determined effort to have Congress act would be made soon after the session opens.

The President, however, has discussed increased food prices with Attorney General Gregory and federal attorneys in various parts of the country now are conducting investigations.

GRILL BRIDGEMAN ON CITY BUYING

Civil Service Board Files Report Attacking Present System.

Criticism of the office methods of Purchasing Agent L. H. Bridgeman of the Oakland School Department are contained in a report submitted to the Board of Education by the Civil Service Board, and recommendations are made that conditions be ameliorated. The report states that the faults in procedure are "chargeable to inattention to details, lack of familiarity with accepted purchasing methods and what would seem to be preferential ordering."

The report is the result of an investigation made by the Civil Service Board at its own suggestion in connection with plan for a central storehouse for municipal supplies suggested some time ago by Commissioner F. J. Jackson. As soon as the document was received, it was referred to the committee of the whole, and will be taken up at the next meeting. Members of the Board of Education will not discuss the matter.

The report calls attention to specific matters; that the specifications drawn by the purchasing agent have been too general; that the practice of discrediting applications has probably been permitted; that bidding has not been open or general enough; that contracts have been awarded without proper competition. One paragraph reads:

Without attempt to justify or criticize the awards, it was found that preferential ordering on 263 items this year resulted in an excess cost of $700 to the department.

Further fault is found on the ground that articles have been purchased in the open market in excess of the prevailing retail price and bought in small quantities. The report suggests two plans for adoption by the board.

One is to establish a storehouse in the city hall, dispense with the two storehouses now employed and an expert purchasing agent keep regular office hours. It is said that this plan will save $143 in salaries.

The other plan is to dispense with a purchasing agent employ an expert storekeeper at a salary of $125 a month, who will do the routine work of the office under the supervision of Business Manager Daniel Pratt. This would effect a saving of $198 a month.

Auto-Stage Drivers Fined for Speeding

LIVERMORE, Nov. 21.—In imposing sentence of a $50 fine with the option of twenty-five days in the county jail on three drivers of auto stage coaches running between Oakland and Stockton, Justice of the Peace C. S. Fitzgerald impressed upon them the necessity of driving at a moderate rate in order to safeguard their passengers. Judge Fitzgerald said:

"Passengers of public service automobiles are entitled to all precautions being taken for their safety. Stage drivers, even more than the private automobile owner, should therefore drive very carefully.

Stage drivers upon whom sentence was imposed were L. Lucchesi, San Francisco; J. C. Gustafson, and Fred Mason, Bakersfield. Lucchesi was unable to pay the fine at the time and was removed to the county jail, to await the payment of the penalty. The other two, who were fined in court, the speeds of the three were around forty miles an hour, according to Deputy District Attorney Manley J. Clark, who is prosecuting offenders.

More Employment Bureaus for State

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—State free employment bureaus will be located in San Diego, Stockton, San Jose and Fresno if legislation now planned is put through at the next session. Such bureaus are now established in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento and have saved laborers thousands of dollars in employment fees.

"There is every reason why the arrangement should be extended to take in San Diego, San Jose, Stockton and Fresno," said Deputy Labor Commissioner John S. Blair today.

Marymont & Upright Employees to Dance

The La Noltan Club, an active group of young ladies employed at Marymont & Upright's, will give a "Thanksgiving social dance at Jenny Lind Hall Wednesday night, November 22. The sale of tickets so far indicates another successful one for this interesting organization, which is one of the prominent social and benevolent features of the Marymont & Upright force.

Election Returns From Two Counties Made

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Election returns from Yuba and Merced counties were made official today by the canvass of voters in the office of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. Ten counties are still to be heard from and their figures must be tabulated and reported to the county clerk before the canvass can be completed. No errors in the vote for presidential electors have been discovered in the official canvass.

California Orange Crop Leaps Ahead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The commercial orange crop of the United States shows a probable increase of 2,450,000 boxes this year, and that of Florida 6,835,000 boxes, or an increase of 185,000. The Florida grapefruit crop is estimated at 1,900,000 boxes, a decrease of 100,000 boxes from last year.

A GOOD WINTER HABIT

Many people dread winter because the sudden climatic changes bring colds, grippe, rheumatism, tonsillitis or bronchitis. But thousands of well-informed men and women today avoid much sickness for themselves and their children by taking a few bottles of Scott's Emulsion to make richer blood, fortify the membranes of the throat and chest and create body warmth to resist sickness. Soldiers at war receive cod liver oil; it will also strengthen you.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

Youths Suspected as Hold-Ups

Oakland Believed to Be Refuge

Fashionable Nob Hill today is crowded with the police, who are hunting for the gang of hold-up artists who were suspected of being the authors of the recent hold-up of the Pacific Union Club. The police are believed to be in the city, and the club is believed to be a refuge for the gang.

Husband Seeks His Wife and Child

Worried over the continued absence of his wife, Rose Quartarolo, 5-year-old son, Vincent Quartarolo, 4-year-old daughter, and 2-year-old son, the father has made a second request to the police today that a search be made for the two, who have been missing since November 8. He expressed the fear that his wife had met with an accident or had been kidnapped.

Mrs. Boissevain Still in Serious Condition

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—No change was reported today in the condition of Mrs. Inez Millholland Boissevain, New York suffragist who was stricken last night by her husband to "out of immediate danger." She passed a fairly good night, and hospital attendants said nothing had occurred to lessen her chances for recovery.

Walter Boyer, Lillard Apartments, First avenue and East Sixteenth street, reported to the police this morning that his room had been entered by a burglar who stole a savings bank containing $4. A Jimmy was used on the door of the apartment.

A. A. Stewart, 320 Chester street, reported the theft of a gold ring from her home. R. W. Pilling, Avon Hotel, complained that a sneak thief had taken a grip from his automobile at Foothill boulevard and Nineteenth avenue.

Theater Secretary Speaks to Ad Men

Members of the ad bureau of the Chamber of Commerce listened to an interesting address today by E. B. Johnston, secretary of the T. & D. Johnston, company at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland. Johnston spoke of the rapid strides of the moving picture business, of its importance to the commercial life of a city and especially of its importance to Oakland.

Manning Is Named to McDonald's Job

William M. Manning, for many years a clerk in the superior court under the administration of John F. Cook as county clerk, was today appointed by Public Administrator H. E. Mehrmann as clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William McDonald of Livermore.

Passengers Landed From Beached Steamer

DOVER, Eng., Nov. 21.—Fifty-three passengers and crew of the American steamer Sibiria, stranded on the Goodwin Sands were landed at Deal today by the King's Down Life Boat.

The rescued persons had a distressing experience during the twenty-four hours they were on the steamer awaiting assistance. In momentary peril of the steamer being engulfed in the treacherous quick sands.

Frivolous efforts were made yesterday by life boats from neighboring stations to rescue the passengers. Several men of the life boat crews were injured and the boat narrowly escaped destruction. The Sibiria is still aground.

Landis Says He's Not Old Man Yet

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—"I'm better at 50 than I was at 25," said Federal Judge K. M. Landis, famous for his fine of $29,000,000 against the Standard Oil Company, on his fiftieth birthday today. He declined to be good for thirty-five years. Who would think of retiring at 50? Why, it doesn't seem any time since I was running barefoot on the old Ohio farm.

Woman Fugitive Is Caught in Alaska

CANON CITY, Nov. 21.—United States Marshal E. T. Egan arrived here recently with Nellie Douglas, a federal prisoner from Alaska, after nearly two months of traveling by dog sled, steamship and railroad. The woman, sentenced to three years imprisonment for robbery, was found in a remote part of Alaska, from which it required seven days' journey by dog sled to reach a railway station.

INDIA LOYAL TO BRITISH, DECLARED

Viceroy Says Development of Land Will Be Outcome of War.

(Copyright 1916 by The Associated Press)
SIMLA, India, Nov. 21.—India's new viceroy, Lord Chelmsford, today told a correspondent of The Associated Press during a formal interview that the war, by giving this country an opportunity to show its practical importance to the empire had stirred Indian aspirations for development, politically and economically, and declared that it would be his endeavor to secure a practical response to this new desire for progress.

His Excellency spoke most warmly of the loyalty of India, of the alacrity and fine spirit with which princes and people had identified themselves with the cause of the empire, and of his own great interest in India's problems.

The viceroy spoke of the surprise with which he had read various articles in American papers purporting to depict conditions in India today and representing the country as laboring under an oppressive rule and shaken by revolutionary and seditious activities. He said:

The British government has not designed formally to repudiate such calumnies—perhaps this has been a mistake—but for any part of the reply which I give you is this simple one: Go wherever you please throughout the length and breadth of India. Study our work and study our difficulties. No sentry will bar the way and no secret agents will shadow you. Talk to whom you please; see what you please; do what you please, and then write what you please. In India we have nothing to conceal. Will you tell your countrymen that?

The corresponding called attention to the changing political conditions in India and to the fact that certain Indian politicians were advocating that still more of the affairs of the government be turned over to them.

No doubt at the present moment political problems are attracting the greatest attention both in and out of India, but the viceroy, but none the less it is a mistake to suppose that these are new problems which have recently come up, or even different problems from those which we have worked in the past. The political development of India has always commanded our anxious attention and has always been progressive.

British statesmen have always conceived in a generous spirit their responsibilities to India and the Indians. Perhaps the rate of definite political progress has been slow, but constitutional development can hardly be other than slow.

The war, affording India an opportunity of displaying its practical importance to the empire, has stirred Indian aspirations, and the new partnership on the battlefield has quickened the sympathy of the empire with those aspirations.

The union has never been in partisan politics and will not be. Yet right here you may take it from me that no amount of partisan lashing shall drive the union from the support of its friends nor force it to surrender its political enemies. Knowing itself, its powers and limitations, the union is determined to control itself. This simply means that the union is not going to take its orders and directions from the outside. It means that the union is sane, self-sustaining and self-sufficient. I will fearlessly and steadily exercise its power for the betterment of the union, the producers of life's necessities, and the uplift of the human race.

As an indication of the growth of the Farmers' Union during the year, President Barrett said charters had been granted to two new state organizations, Montana and North Dakota, and three others were nearly ready. "Quite important," he pointed out, was the steady development of the union's co-operative business enterprises which were getting better and more substantial results practically everywhere.

Dainty Maid From China Is Actress Now

MISS MARION WONG.

Pretty Marion Wong Is Annexed by the Columbia Theater

Featured at the Columbia theater with Will King in "Help Wanted" this week is little Marion Wong, a local Chinese girl, who burst into fame but a few months ago when she made her debut as a prima donna with a musical comedy road show appearing at a local theater. Miss Wong is proving a delight to the packed houses at the Columbia this week where she is filling a short engagement in an appropriate specialty number, singing "Alone" and "Climbing Through the Rye." Both numbers are being well received and the little Celestial maiden is already a favorite.

Miss Wong was born in Oakland not so many years ago and received her early education in the local schools. Her preceptors noted a peculiar talent for music in the child and she was advised to take singing lessons. Her first appearance was made about two months ago, when she was an instant hit. She returns to the Columbia after a long tour of California, preparatory to filling an eastern engagement.

"International Spy" Takes First Papers
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Armstrong Karl Graves, the so-called "international spy," who is held in $20,000 bail on the charge of attempting to blackmail Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador, has taken out his first citizenship papers. His attorney explained that Graves feared an attempt by the German government to get possession of his person, and said that as a citizen he could demand protection of this government.

BURNED BY MATCHES
REDDING, Nov. 21.—A little Horton, recruit for marines at Vallejo, was killed by a train three miles north of Kennett Sunday night. Horton fell under the moving train and jumped the wheels. Matches in his pockets were fired and the body was badly burned. Horton was 24 years old and came from Portland.

Hunting Trip on a Wet Day Brings Painful Results.

Once upon a time Charles Mullen, of Philadelphia, went gunning. It was a dismal rainy day, and long exposure to cold and wet brought on a severe attack of rheumatism. He was confined to his home.

A friend recommended Sloan's Liniment, getting his own case as evidence of its effectiveness. Mullen bought a bottle and applied it to his aching limbs. Soon improvement was noticed and he was able to return to business. Mr. Mullen said: "Since that experience I have never been without Sloan's Liniment in the medicine chest." You will find it soothes bruises, sprains, toothache and relieves lame back, neuralgia; in fact, all external pains. At all druggists, 25c, 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

Rescue of Bear Is Given Up by Crews

EUREKA, Nov. 21.—That all attempts to draw the coastwise steamer Bear from the rocky cradle off the mouth of the Bear river, where the steamer ran aground last June, had been given up as futile, was evidenced with the arrival of R. C. Porter of San Francisco with a crew of wreckers to dismantle the sea-cavtered hulk. The machinery and other valuable parts of the vessel's equipment will be removed, according to Porter, and hauled to Eureka next spring. The process of dismantling, it was stated, would keep the crew busy through the winter months.

Convicts Wait Until Guard Becomes Sober

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 21.—Four convicts from Folsom prison are guests at a hotel here waiting for their guard and monitor, J. R. Crall, to sober up so he can take them to work at the state highway convict camp at Camptonville, Yuba county.

Crall is in jail. He was arrested in a restaurant by Patrolman Stock for disturbing the peace. Crall came into town with four honor convicts, on the way from Folsom to the camp. He took them to dinner. They remained sober while he became exceedingly intoxicated. Crall finally started a fight in the restaurant. The four convicts sat and watched him. After his arrest they went to a motion picture show. No one is watching them.

New Engine Will Be Tried Out by Line

EXETER, Nov. 21.—Equipment of a type new to the Pacific coast is to be used on the extensions of the Vicksburg Electric railway, now practically completed to El Mirador and other orange districts to the south of Exeter. Gas-electric locomotives are to be used, the first two machines of this type having been delivered here this week. An eight-cylinder gas engine is used for the initial power, this driving a dynamo from which is derived the current, which is conveyed to direct connected motors on each of the four trucks. Tests of this type of machine in interurban service are said to have demonstrated its value.

A Nourishing, Laxative Food for Growing Children

It solves mother's food problem. Roman Meal is much more nourishing than wheat or oats used alone, and is twice as nourishing as corn; it is so thoroughly and easily digestible that even a baby of eight months or over thrives upon it. It keeps the liver active, and relieves constipation.

upon it. It keeps the liver active, and relieves constipation.

Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal

is nothing but a simple, absolutely drugless combination of entire berries of wheat (30%), whole berries of rye (35%), flaxseed, rendered tasteless and odorless by electricity (25%), and 10% wheat bran. That's all. This simple mixture is porous because it is granulated, thus letting the digestive juices reach every particle and preventing indigestion.

Flaxseed is the most nourishing seed known. In Roman Meal it prevents the irritating effect of bran on the lining of the bowel, and lubricates the digestive tract. It is laxative and keeps the skin clear.

The bran in Roman Meal provides the natural waste without which the muscles of the digestive tract positively will not act. The digestive system was fashioned for the express purpose of dealing with coarse, waste-containing food. Roman Meal is such a food; it relieves constipation.

tion, or money refunded. Ask your doctor.

You notice that entire berries of wheat and rye are used—important. Modern cereal foods are light in color because they are mostly starches, which so often ferment and cause trouble. Roman Meal retains the dark parts of the grains because they build up muscle, brain, nerves, organs and blood. These dark parts also contain the salines which keep the blood non-acid. They contain the flavor, too—the sweet, nutty flavor of the grains!

Roman Meal is an ideal food for children; it takes the place of drugs, keeping little folks healthy and strong. What delightful porridge it makes; when you follow directions it is delicious, but when you stir it while cooking you spoil it. Do not stir except while mixing meal and water. It also makes all kinds of delicious baked products. At all grocers.

8 AMERICANS FROM PARRAL ARE MISSING

Four Employees of Alvarado Mining Company Are Safe in El Paso and Take Steps to Learn Fate of Companions

Men Who Have Not Been Heard From Left Town Before It Was Entered by Villa and Started for the U. S. Border

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 21.—Four Americans, employees of the Alvarado Mining Company who fled from Parral, Mexico, November 10, when word reached them that Villa bandits were to attack that town, and who arrived here last night, took steps today to learn the fate of eight other Americans known to have left the vicinity before Villa entered the place.

The Americans arrived here last night after a two weeks' flight which carried them from Parral to Culiacan, on the west coast of Mexico. From that place the Americans journeyed to Hermosillo, Sonora, and came here by railway. The party included T. G. Hawkins, Bernard McDonald and L. Webb of El Paso and W. A. Morris of Los Angeles.

According to Hawkins, there are eight Americans who were with them at Parral who are yet unaccounted for. Fear that a number of white foreigners residing at Parral may have been slaughtered also was expressed.

Treasure Room Is Thrown Open

After Ten Years Stanford Art Exhibited

PALO ALTO, (Nov. 21.)—Ever since the earthquake in 1906 one room in the Stanford museum has remained closed. Yesterday this room was again opened and once more the priceless collection of Japanese and Chinese art treasures, the Ikeda set, may be viewed by the public.

In 1904 Mrs. Jane Lathrop Stanford purchased from S. Ikeda Jr., son of the great collector, several hundred pieces of his collection, which had just been assigned to the British museum at a price of over $100,000. Since that time the art treasures have increased materially in value, one piece alone being set at $30,000.

The collection, as a whole, comprises several hundred pieces, every one of which is genuine and is representative of the best artistic efforts which the Japanese and Chinese have put forth during the past seven centuries.

Due to the untiring efforts of H. C. Peterson, curator of the Stanford museum, pieces broken by the earthquake have been pieced together and the set tabulated and arranged in proper order.

Vehicle Act Under Probe of Officers

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Representatives of automobile owners and dealers' associations, police and sheriff's associations and state departments interested in the enforcement of automobile laws, arrived here today and conferred with reference to proposed changes in the motor vehicle act. Among the subjects to be discussed were the abolishing of a definite speed limit, the question of limiting the glare of headlights and the limiting of weight of loads permitted on improved highways.

NO ILLNESS FUND SAVED BY WORKER

Social Insurance Commission Seeks to Prevent Desstitution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—That workers and their families generally live from hand to mouth, with less than $40 set aside to meet illness because they are forced to, and that 50 percent of California's workers are unemployed at some time during the year, were among the statements made at the social insurance commission's hearings today. These hearings are being held to assist the commission in making its recommendations to the next legislature, especial attention being given to prevention of destitution among workers by sickness or unemployment insurance.

State health insurance was recommended as a means of correcting the situation by Professor Alvin Johnson of Stanford. Dr. Philip King Brown and others who testified today.

Dr. Brown, who has made extensive research here and abroad, made the comparison between 50 percent unemployment at some time during the year in California and between 3 and 8 percent in Germany. He declared that of the 75,000 casual workers in California, 40,000 of them gather in San Francisco, forming a real menace to the community.

Professor Johnson stated that the average man loses nine days a year from his work owing to illness. He held that owing to the fact that the workingman's standard of living is rising he is unable to keep a reserve fund from his earnings at present wages and being unable to support his family on less than $800 a year, is forced to appeal to charity for aid in the event of an extended illness.

Compulsory insurance as a means of preventing destitution among wage-earners by distributing the cost will be one of the chief matters discussed at the three-day session. The social security commission is in favor of state insurance against sickness.

Requiem Mass for Late Mrs. Allen

A requiem mass was celebrated this morning for Mrs. Margaret Allen, who died following several weeks' illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Palmer, 1524 Jackson street. After the mass, interment was held in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Mrs. Allen was 85 years of age, a native of Ireland and the widow of the late William M. Allen. Six children survive her, among them being Judge John Allen and Mrs. Palmer, wife of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company's general manager. Other surviving members of the immediate family are James E. Allen, Mrs. J. H. Tennent, Mrs. E. O. Corrigan and Mrs. Harry Jones.

President Cabrera As Bill Collector

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Even a president has a yearning to turn his spare time into "pin money." President Manuel Estrada Cabrera of Guatemala, apparently has such a desire, for as an attorney he is today suing the commission firm of Tannhauser & Company, for $15,000, alleged to be due Triebel & Company, a Guatemalan firm. Cabrera, who appears as attorney, is also plaintiff. He alleges that Triebel & Company are unable to pay him money deposited with them because the San Francisco firm will not pay them. The local firm declares the suit is without merit.

Daylight Saving to Be Convention Subject

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—Robert Garland, chairman of the special committee on daylight saving of the National Chamber of Commerce, has issued a call for the first national convention to be held in Pittsburgh on December 5. Representatives of every part of the country are expected to be present. The daylight saving campaign contemplates moving forward the clocks one hour in the four zones of standard time.

DEATH'S PRICE OF PATRIOTISM

Charles Brunner Gave Up His Riches Before He Would Aid Allies.

Despondency through prospects ruined by his sense of patriotism and a losing fight in an effort to amass a fortune on war stocks, were the impelling motives in the suicide of Charles H. Brunner, well-known stock broker on both sides of the bay, who was found last night by his fiancée, Miss Vera Oliver, lying dead with a bullet through his temple in his apartment in the Mendel Apartments, San Francisco. Prostrated by the shock of the tragedy, Miss Oliver is under the care of Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Jordan, mutual friends of the couple, at their home, 6031 Harwood avenue, in this city.

Miss Oliver called on her fiancé to accept an invitation to dinner and found him dead in bed, his face having been extinct several hours before her arrival. By Brunner's side were two notes explaining that he had lost his nerve through bad luck in money matters, and through worry in losing money borrowed from Miss Oliver, and losing his nerve, had decided to take his life.

Immediately following her fiancé's death, Miss Oliver notified Dr. Jordan of Oakland. He went across the bay and took her to his home.

"I am sorry to say that Mr. Brunner was despondent and moody, but he was among his best friends, did not find him so," said Mrs. Jordan. "He was a visitor in this country from Germany, but made his friends here during his short stay by his jovial disposition. I had not the slightest idea that he was in financial difficulties. He was a frequent visitor at our home, and first met Miss Oliver here. We became acquainted with Mr. Brunner when Dr. Jordan examined him before he took out insurance papers."

With the rank of captain in the German army, Brunner saw service at the beginning of the war and was later captured by the British while aboard a German merchantman and held a prisoner in Jamaica. He escaped and came here a year and a half ago, and had since dealt in stocks and bonds, especially in German 5 percent war bonds.

Four months ago he made investments which promised a large income. Discovering that the British Government would dispose of his holdings, according to his friends, other misfortunes followed and Brunner was ruined. Money borrowed from his fiancée was lost in his speculation, according to a note found near the body.

Brunner called on his lawyer, Charles A. Lee, yesterday at 3 o'clock and asked that he be buried in the city. From there he must have gone straight home, written the notes, and taken his life.

One note with no address read: "and Miss Oliver and get out for as much as possible."

In a second note addressed to Mrs. Fielding, landlady of the apartment, he wrote:

"I am sorry to make you the trouble, but I wanted to die in my apartment. I have no money, but you will get it from my lawyer after matters are settled. I have had the worst luck anyone could have for four months and my nerve broke down, and now I will."

Miss Oliver met Brunner when she came here from Nebraska two years ago with friends to visit the exposition, according to Dr. Jordan. The couple had been engaged for six months, and were to have been married in a few weeks.

"Missing" Girl Is Believed Married

Frances Ina Cope, 17-year-old daughter of Clarence Cope, 313 Filbert street, who was reported to the police last evening as "missing," is presumably on her way to New York to join her husband, Charles Adrien Russell, an automobile salesman. Investigations made by the police's bureau resulted in the discovery that the girl purchased a ticket for New York at the Sixteenth-street station of the Southern Pacific and departed on train No. 10.

According to information obtained by Captain of Inspectors L. F. Agnew, Russell and Miss Cope were married in San Francisco about a week ago and Russell went to New York, leaving with his bride sufficient money to pay for her journey.

The girl went to school on Monday morning as usual, declaring that she would be home by 3:30. When she failed to put in an appearance her parents began to search for her. They discovered that she had spent several hours with Mrs. Eleanor Cockrill, a friend, in the Fourth-avenue district. Last night Cope received a special delivery letter which read:

"The surprise which you so long expected has come. I am married. You will receive a letter from Los Angeles."

Cope said this morning that he had had no objections to his daughter's marriage to Russell, but that he would have preferred a home wedding.

Heir of Miller Would Pay Big Tax

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Fearing that refusal on the part of the trustees of the Henry Miller estate to pay the state and federal inheritance taxes will cause litigation, reducing the size of the estate, Gustave A. Rembold of Burns, Ore., is today suing the trustees to have the amount of the federal and state taxes determined and paid. Rembold is a grand nephew of Miller, and is heir to $5000. He is an attorney and in the complaint frankly expresses fear that he and other beneficiaries may be deprived of their legacies unless the matter is settled promptly.

Nurses' Association Thanks The Tribune

OAKLAND TRIBUNE: At a meeting of our directors of The Alameda County Nurses' Association, a report from our publication committee was presented. This committee was loud in its praise of your kind and courteous treatment of our subject. We as an association certainly appreciate and thank you for the publicity the TRIBUNE gave to our bazaar. We realize that it added greatly in making it the success which it was.

Wishing The TRIBUNE every success, we are,

Gratefully yours,

Only Punishment for This Theft Is Death

GARY, Ind., Nov. 21.—Arrested on the charge of stealing a car from the United States Steel Corporation's ore fleet flagship, the James J. Farrell, while at sea, C. A. Schillinger, a young British subject, faces the death penalty if convicted.

Schillinger, 17, found guilty, will either have to be freed or be hanged, possibly from the yardarm of the Farrell in Gary harbor, lawyers stated. He will be tried under the terms of a law passed in 1910.

Mrs. McArthur Loses Suit at Redding

Following an eight weeks' trial, which ended two months ago, Superior Judge Barber of Redding decided that Mrs. Mary McArthur of this city be denied an accounting of the John McArthur Company's property and monetary condition. The judge said that the corporation, situated at McArthur, had been conducted with strict honesty and that an accounting rendered the widow was unnecessary. Mrs. McArthur owns one-seventh of the stock in the company, inherited from her late husband.

VILLA'S WIFE MAY HAVE BEEN SLAIN

Connivance of Husband in the Plot, Suspected by Her Friends.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—That Mrs. Juana Torres Villa, "the beautiful shop girl of Torreon," and who claimed to be the only legal wife of Villa, met death through the connivance of her husband was the belief widely expressed here today when it was learned that Mrs. Villa died at Guadalajara October 27.

Mrs. Villa, 19 years old, had been a fugitive from Mexico almost a year and had passed that time in this city. During the months that she was here, however, she never received a word from her husband, or any money for her support and that of her daughter, Juana.

Unable to endure the separation any longer, she returned to Mexico three months ago.

It is believed here by her friends that Villa turned against her and caused her death.

During her period of hiding in Los Angeles Mrs. Villa made her home with Colonel Andreas Parias, former Villa officer.

News of her death was officially announced by J. Isaac-Aceves, private secretary to Colonel Parias, military governor of Lower California.

One Foreign Cardinal to Attend Consistory

Invention Is Mother of Remarkable Film Drama

By Harry L. Sully.

Invention is the mother of necessity. This reversal of the aphorism, which is more nearly true in its new form than in its old, is to be seen in the evolution of the motion picture art. Invention, in the form of mechanical improvement of the art, added capacity for film drama and spectacle, has necessitated wide departure from the early play-form, even of the "movie" itself. The camera is still far ahead of the playwrights who supply its working material, and is driving them on and on to meet its enlarged possibilities, possibilities in which invention is forcing the craftsmen to follow and make use of the added facilities.

"Intolerance," the D. W. Griffith film spectacle, which came to the Macdonough theater last night, is a remarkable example of this situation. It is a splendid attempt to follow where the technique of the motion camera is leading. From the point of view of perfect motion photography it has, perhaps, never been exceeded.

A notable example of the work of invention in enforcing its necessity upon the progress of the art, is that in this great pageant the order of the drama has for the first time been consciously abandoned. Four separate stories are told, their scenes and casts of characters being distinct in every way, and the telling is carried on almost simultaneously.

It is an attempt to present visions of mankind as they flash through the mind, not following each out logically and consecutively, but weaving back and forth from story to story.

VISUALIZING THE NOVEL.

The motion picture, by reason of its mechanics, had already been moving away from the drama form to that of a visualized novel, rather than a play. This had been an unconscious development, for the most part. But the acceptance of the possibility of following an idea from century to century, and over wide geographical areas, without concerning itself with space and time, was a thing that could hardly have been attempted, and if attempted could not have been accepted, until the inventions made familiar by the motion camera had become popular property and commonplace.

The central theme of this great Griffith feature is "Intolerance"—religious intolerance, moral intolerance, racial intolerance, in every time and place. The film might as well have been called "Human Nature." It is a spectacle of men and women hating and loving, laughing and dying, perishing and saving each other down the ages. The four stories are interwoven in presentation, but are skillfully handled so that the spectator at this four-ring motion circus does not become confused.

Two stories stand out as more distinct and vivid than the others. These are the stories of The Girl in the modern American city, castigation of the intolerance of the "Uplifters" and of the Mountain Girl in the Babylonian spectacle.

While each of the four stories is the picturing of a spectacular moment in world history, in which the movement of masses of people is the background of the action, the story has been given a center and significance in each period by two or three outstanding characters. Of these the Girl in the modern story and the Mountain Girl in Babylon are the most successful.

"THE GIRL'S" STORY.

The Girl in the modern story is played by Mae Marsh, whose acting was so highly praised in "The Clansman." She is a typical city girl of the working class, a typical "slum mother," a "bad case," in the view of the uplifters.

Her story, with its pitiful tragedy and final happiness, is threaded across the texture of this spectacle in warm and human scenes.

The Mountain Girl, with her daring, her vixenish independence, her love affair for the beautiful king, Belshazzar, make great Babylon, with its mountain high walls, its colossal temples, its strange gods and sacrifices and its stupendous siege, human and near to the spectator. She makes the watcher in a modern city at home in Babylon.

For the spectacle itself of the siege of Babylon by Cyrus there is no parallel, excepting in Calabria. In this the detail is as close to history as in the Italian pageant of history, and attention is centered upon individual episodes and human content with an extraordinary realism.

The great towers, built by Cyrus to break across into the most famous walled cities, the scaling ladders hurled outward from the walltop, carrying soldiers downward in their fall, the catapults, slings, the pouring of liquid fire down upon the invaders—all these flash across the screen with thrilling realism. Blood is spilled, heroic deeds are accomplished, there is self-sacrifice, greed and hatred in the pictures.

Yet "Intolerance" is merely a forerunner. It does not use, as they will be used, the capacities of the motion camera. There will come a poet and dreamer who will do this. Then we shall have our first modern motion art work created in its own right.

German Steamer Is Wrecked by Explosion

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The German steamer Fritz Hugo Stines has been wrecked in the Baltic through a boiler explosion, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. The vessel was bound for Gelfe, Sweden, to Hamburg and seven of her crew are reported missing. She was a ship of 1457 tons.

This Simple Laxative A Household Necessity

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Should Have a Place in Every Home.

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly every one experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, foul gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved, the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

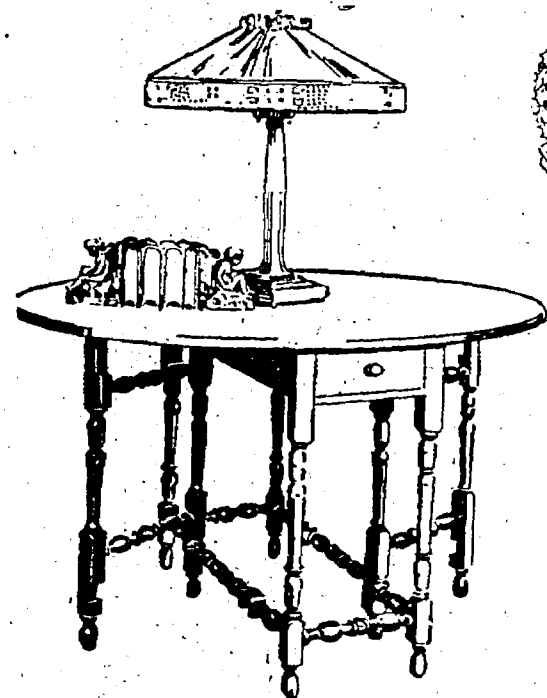

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock the system.

The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with Pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the State Legislature for 25 years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is recommended as a family laxative, mild enough for the tiniest babe, yet sufficiently powerful to act easily on the strongest constitution.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin." See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow card in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

BIG STRIKE DANGER IS NOT GREAT

Indications Railroad Brotherhoods Will Be Content to Await Test of Constitutionality of the Adamson Law

Department of Justice Officials Ready for Opening Attack, Which Begins Thursday in Suits Tried in Kansas City

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A general railroad strike January 1 may not follow as the result of the present situation growing out of the Adamson law.

This interpretation was placed today on remarks of Chief Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that the question of such a strike "will be answered later." The element of doubt regarding his remarks arises from the fact that last week in New York brotherhood chiefs asserted there would be a strike if they did not get a real eight-hour day.

Now it is believed the brotherhoods will be content to await a test of constitutionality of the Adamson eight-hour measure. The brotherhoods, however, are threatening their movements in an even deeper secret that which marked their program when they threatened to strike last summer.

Today the brotherhood chiefs are in Baltimore to speak before the American Federation of Labor convention—a move that portends co-operation between them and the railway department of the federal government for an eight-hour day in all branches of railroad service.

At the same time the department of justice and the brotherhoods' legal department are ready for the opening of the Adamson tests Thursday, when the Union Pacific and Santa Fe start their suits at Kansas City. The course taken by the courts in these cases will be vital and upon its action probably rest the final decision of the brotherhoods as to whether there shall be a strike.

The Newlands committee investigation of the general railroad relations between the railroads and the general public will continue, with the railroads putting forth proposals for alleviation of what they regard as an irksome condition. The committee is particularly for elimination of control by state railroad commissions.

The question of wages has been minimized to date, but when brotherhood leaders return they probably will ask a hearing and precipitate sharp discussion on that point.

Modoc Quarantine Will Stay in Force

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Because four additional cases of rabies have been reported from Modoc county the quarantine restrictions in that county will not be raised, according to an announcement made by the state board of health. Edward T. Ross, reported that the inspector for the board, reported that two men, one of them escaping by climbing a tree and the other finally reaching camp and disposing of the animal by means of a rifle bullet.

Probation Given to Janitor of Armory

Ernest Wallace, former janitor in the Oakland armory, who was accused of stealing soldiers' clothes stored there, was placed on probation by Superior Judge Ogden today, but was rearrested as he left the court room on a charge of petty larceny growing out of the same case. Wallace promised Judge Ogden that he would reimburse the persons who lost by his thefts. An effort will be made to have a similar disposition made of the new charge against him.

A Sensible Talk! Read It!

Do you doubt that 25 of every 100 people who do not succeed in business can attribute their failure to but one cause? Do you doubt that, had they known that cause, it would have been removed before it was too late? Do these questions there is only one answer and we leave you to draw the lesson from them for yourself.

REMEMBER

Your eyes not only guide you on the path of life, but are also your greatest asset in your business career; therefore, remember that without them you would probably become a public charge, unable to perform the work upon which you so depend. Make eyes no longer an employer's pay you. Are your eyes failing you? If so, attend to them before it is too late, for when they once begin to weaken, they will soon decrease your ability, and thereby put you in danger of losing your position.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

It is not necessary to shampoo quite so frequently if your hair is properly cleaned each time by use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers may be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of carborundum, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing the scalp is fresh and clean while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisement.

Berlin Opposes Home Army Plan

"Deep, But Quiet Revolution," Foreseen

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 21.—The Berlin Tageblatt, discussing contemporary service of civilians in the proposed "home army," expresses the belief that the step will cause "a deep but quiet revolution in Germany." The Tageblatt declares that the Germans must emerge from the war free from military country and everybody who is professionally engaged in sowing the seeds of international hatred should be punished.

Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg has left Berlin for a short visit to army headquarters, according to the Cologne Volks Zeitung.

WIDOW OF PIONEER DIES AT OLD AGE

Mrs. Susan L. Locke, Aged 78, Passes Away After Short Illness.

Mrs. Susan L. Locke, widow of George S. Locke, the founder of the town of Lockeford, San Joaquin county, a resident of California for 63 years, died this morning at her home, 1814 Eleventh avenue. As one of the oldest women voters in the state, Mrs. Locke went to the polling booth on the day of the general election and immediately upon her return home was seized with a heart attack which brought about her death.

Mrs. Locke was 78 years old and was born in North Abington, Mass. She attended the Bridgewater Normal School there and, coming to Lockeford in 1857, when eighteen years old, taught school. She married George S. Locke and for forty years the couple owned a large ranch there. When her husband died sixteen years ago Mrs. Locke came to Oakland.

She was keenly interested in temperance work and was county president of the Women's Christian Temperance Association in San Joaquin county.

Surviving Mrs. Locke are a family consisting of Mrs. Sarah Smith of Perendale, Wallace H. Locke, Mrs. Lilla L. Jory, Mrs. Mertice L. Gill and Dr. Franklin H. Locke of Oakland.

The funeral will be held Thursday from the Pilgrim Congregational church, Eighth avenue and East Fifteenth street. The remains will be cremated.

Teachers' Protest Reaches Hyatt

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Edward Hyatt, state superintendent of public instruction, has been appealed to by W. A. Taylor, principal of the Oakland vocational high school, to circulate a petition among the teachers of the state, asking that the governor and the President take some steps to reduce the high cost of living. Hyatt has taken no action on the request, but indicates that he is inclined to carry out the request.

The letter from Tenney is based on a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the Oakland Teachers' Association. These resolutions point out that the teachers are vitally interested in the physical development of the children, as well as their moral and intellectual growth, and that as many parents have incomes less than $800 a year sufficient nourishment cannot be obtained at the present prices. Taylor made an appeal to the mayor of Oakland, the governor and the President.

Will Fight Claims of Sharon "Heir"

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—That the heirs of the late W. F. Sharon will fight to the finish the claims of Fred S. Sharon of Tacoma, who claims he is the legally adopted son of the late millionaire, and on this ground asks half the estate, became apparent today when Attorney Garrett McEnerney, attorney for Mrs. Louise Tevis Sharon, filed application for a review in the District Court. Superior Judge Graham today upheld Sharon by refusing to vacate an order that would bring the widow into court to tell what she knows of the adoption, which her attorneys are trying to prevent. The Superior Court today held that Tevis was entitled to a hearing of his claim.

California Pioneer Woman Is Buried

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Louise Amidon, California pioneer, was held this morning from her late residence, 2107 Santa Clara avenue, where she had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Frederick E. Jenkins. A native of New York, 62 years of age, Mrs. Amidon crossed the plains with her parents when a child of several years. Arriving here, the parents settled in the bay region, where Mrs. Amidon married and lived for the rest of her life.

The wife of the late John G. Amidon, who passed away thirty-five years ago, she was also the mother of Mrs. Frederick Jenkins, Mrs. F. M. Hammet and John F. Amidon, who survive her. The two daughters live in Alameda.

Hotel Guests in Near Panic During Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Smoke pouring through the hallway of the Terminal Hotel, 60 Market street, early this morning, aroused several hundred guests, many of whom rushed about half-dressed during the ensuing confusion and before it was announced that the danger was over. Night Clerk Samuel McCain discovered the combustion which emitted from the furnace room where an oil burner had burned over-heated. With the assistance of bell-boys he extinguished the blaze with only slight damage. In the meantime an alarm had been turned in but when the department arrived it found nothing to do.

San Leandro Woman Is Sought by Court

Failure on the part of Mrs. Antonia Alcarde, a young San Leandro woman, to appear in the Superior Court today to answer to a charge of larceny, resulted in a bench warrant being issued by Judge Ogden, who fixed her bail at $2000. Mrs. Alcarde was released by Justice of the Peace Frank Mitchell in San Leandro on her own recognizance, following her preliminary examination. She is the mother of a baby. She is accused of taking $50 from a trunk belonging to Antonio Lopez. She said that her husband told her the money was in the trunk and that she gave it to him.

MORO SENATOR IN NEW CONGRESS

Philippine Upper and Lower House Meets With Natives in Seats.

MANILA, Oct. 18.—The new Philippine Congress convened under the Philippine bill which was signed by President Wilson on August 29, met today and, for the first time in the history of the government of the islands a full blooded Moro took his seat in the upper house. The Moro senator is Hadji Butu, for many years prime minister of the Sultan Zulu.

Hadji Butu, who becomes a member of the Senate by appointment of Governor General Harrison, is looked upon as one of the strongest men among the Moros and in the last few years has played a leading role in the transformation of the island of Sulu from a region of murder and pillage to one of progress and industry.

Death Flirts With Farmer

Hurled From Rig, Man Rides Cowcatcher

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 21.—A farm rig driven by H. A. Hollister was completely demolished when struck by a freight train twenty-five miles west from here. Hollister was thrown out and on to the engine pilot and carried a considerable distance when he fell off. He was brought to this city on the train. His injuries were found to be slight.

Portland Jobbers Protest Rates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Portland, Oregon, Traffic and Transportation Association complained to the Interstate Commerce Commission today that class rates from Portland to California and to Klamath Falls and other Oregon points are unjustly preferential to San Francisco, Sacramento and other California cities.

RAILROADS DEFEND LONG-HAUL RATES

Controversy Before the Federal Commission Involves Shippers Here.

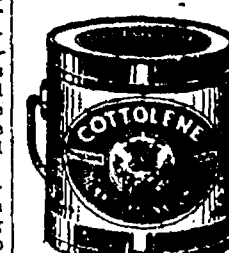

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Defense of the low long haul freight rates to Pacific Coast points without proportionate reduction of intermediate rates was offered by representatives of transcontinental railroads before representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission today. The case, which has been at issue for twelve years, involves controversies between shippers of the east, west and inter-mountain territory and the railroads and steamship lines. Hearings will be held for a week in Chicago and dates have been announced for sessions in Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Spokane, Portland and Washington.

'Chicken Feed' Demand Worries Mint Head

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Public demand for pennies, nickels and dimes is so much greater than the supply that superintendents and officials of the San Francisco, Denver and Philadelphia mints and New York Assay Office conferred here today on how to meet the situation. All the mints are running behind, although working night and day.

GOETHALS' REPORT ON THE CANAL.

Major-General Goethals must be regarded as the most authoritative voice in all the discussions of the Panama Canal for the purpose of enlightening the public regarding this project. He has been in the canal zone long enough to get acquainted with its nature; he is the builder of the canal and for the last several years has been in charge of canal administration. General Goethals is a conscientious, able, conservative army officer and speaks for publication usually once a year, and then to his government through official reports.

Volunteer critics of the canal have been quite numerous of late. Prof. Benjamin LeRoy Miller of the faculty of Lehigh University visited the canal and returned home with the report that he had made a thorough investigation of the Cucaracha slide and pronounced it beyond repair. Former United States Senator Thomas Kearns of Utah went to the canal and evolved a theory that subterranean gases, beyond human control, were responsible for the slides. More recently a sensational report was disseminated from Canada that the canal was a failure.

The public generally has reserved decision on these rumors until General Goethals should speak. The annual report of the chief of the canal project was published yesterday. It is an ample reward for faithful waiting. General Goethals states that Prof. B. LeRoy Miller's thorough investigation of the district where the slides occurred was performed within three hours' time, at most; the "gas theory" is untenable, and the Canadian story is without basis of fact.

"For some unaccountable reason," writes General Goethals, "there seems to be a general belief that the entire length of the cut (Caillard) is affected. A report emanating recently from English sources states that the bottom of the canal through this section is found to be a bog, which is being constantly pushed up, and through which the dredges have difficulty in maintaining a channel; further that it is acknowledged on the part of those in charge that the canal is a failure, and that American engineers are seeking information in England relative to the Nicaragua route."

Here is General Goethals' laconic reply to these tales: "Such reports are false, and there is no foundation for them."

He further observes that the Nicaragua route was at one time the one most generally favored by the United States, and that investigations by commissions, boards and commercial bodies, covering a series of years, have been made of the route, and data of all kinds collected; consequently there is no necessity of seeking information in England. Directly as to the "bog" rumor, he says:

"Caillard cut extends from Pedro Miguel to Gamboa, a distance of 8.75 miles. The canal prism through this section averages 300 feet bottom width, and has a depth of 45 feet. Every foot of the existing channel was excavated through rock (The italicization is ours), all of which, though of various kinds and densities, had to be drilled and blasted in order to remove it. The bog theory is a myth. The cut has been stable with the exceptions of the portions in the vicinity of Culebra and Cucaracha. The slides at Culebra are on both sides of the waterway, occupying a length of 2800 feet, while the channel affected by the Cucaracha slide is less than 2000 feet long, so that out of a total of 8.75 miles only 0.88 mile has been affected."

The report makes no attempt to conceal the extent of any of the slides, or to deny that they have taken place. But they are the result of the enormous weight of the superimposed mass crushing and causing a deformation of underlying strata; and "final rest will be secured when all the material that is in motion has been removed."

Therefore, General Goethals' report on slides is to be interpreted briefly as pointing out that they resulted from leaving the Caillard cut in practically an uncompleted state when ships were sent through the canal; that is, the sides of the prism were left too steep for the time and the material on either side of the cut must be removed. When this is done, and the work is now in progress, the sides will have a bowl shape instead of an incline. The filling up of the canal was by slides from the faces of the cut and not due to "forcing up" of the "boggy" bottom of the canal. All "upheavals" are preceded by sliding movements of the banks.

Shipping interests will be greatly reassured by General Goethals' report. False reports and exploited theories based upon misinformation have caused not a little uneasiness regarding the success of the canal. Official information, however, is to the effect that the slides are superficial; that they may be corrected by removal, and that there exists no fault of formation in the bottom of the canal to prevent making a clear passage ultimately possible at all times.

"A tariff to aid the business men," is President Wilson's description of his most recent stand on the tariff question. Representative Claud Kitchin and Senator Underwood will return to Congress next month in very uncertain moods. Democracy has never heretofore been able to comprehend such a motive for a tariff. It was a long step from the views of the free trader to "a tariff for revenue." The great spokesmen of Democratic doctrines, and there have been, and are, many able ones, thought they had then gone the limit toward conformity with Republican tariff doctrines. What must they think of a tariff in the interest and for the aid of business? And what will they do?

ALCOHOL AS MOTOR FUEL.

It is now a year since Mr. Henry Ford launched his scheme to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." Upon this first anniversary of a fruitless idea, the failure of which has occasioned world wide comment, sad and otherwise, Mr. Ford has announced an idea distinguished from the enterprise to end the European war by that hard practicality which has made him a great success as a businessman.

Mr. Ford discusses a substitute for gasoline. It is no happy transmutation of water into fuel. It is alcohol. Like all purely business ventures, Mr. Ford speaks from experience. He has proven the adaptability of alcohol for fuel in motor engines in his laboratory and in actual experiments. There are now thirty farm tractors being driven by alcohol near Dearborn, Illinois.

Alcohol has one big advantage over gasoline. Its supply will always be as inexhaustible as plant life. Gasoline is a product exclusively of petroleum. Alcohol may be distilled from corn, corn stalks, wheat, potatoes, beets, beet tops and all kinds of fruits. It is conceivable that the waste in agricultural and fruit products under our present extravagant methods would produce enough alcohol to drive all the motor cars in use. It may also mean the farmer's independence of fuel manufacturers. A few lessons with some of the moonshiners of Tennessee and South Carolina or instructions through other agencies will make the farmer proficient in turning out his own motor fuel.

The alcohol idea of Mr. Ford may not achieve that great success many predict for it, but it certainly has useful possibilities. This much is in its favor: It is the product of Mr. Ford's schooling in the laboratory of practical manufacturing; he speaks from original knowledge. His peace plan was imposed upon him from without. Mr. Ford does not try propaganda in the operation of motor cars.

The joint army and navy board appointed for the investigation of different types of machine guns have rendered a compromise verdict. It has recommended the purchase of 4600 Vickers guns of .30 calibre for "heavy" machine gun equipment, and to the proponents of the Lewis gun it promises that a further test will be held if reached. The board, as was to be expected, found itself in a dilemma. A machine gun using .30 calibre ammunition is most desirable, other considerations being equal, as that is the size of the ammunition required for the army rifle. But owing to the requirements of the war in Europe, the Vickers, Colt and Lewis factories are busy on machine guns which use the .303 British cartridge. Faced with the prospect of not being able to get guns which will use the American standard ammunition, the board has recommended the purchase of a limited quantity of .303 machine rifles for emergency purposes. The Chief of Ordnance already has purchased 353 Lewis guns of the larger calibre for use on the Mexican border. Thus, as always has been the case, the United States is equipped with ordnance of many different makes and sizes, each requiring special ammunition. It is the expensive, inefficient way and the United States is the only government which tolerates such a system.

One noteworthy compensation of the recent election was the recall from Congress of Representative Clyde H. Tavenner and Frank Buchanan of Illinois. While in office they lent their aid to foreign propagandists and against the interests and the peace of their own country. Their connection with the national government should be finally terminated.

An atom-weigher has been added to the faculty of the University of California. His first effort should be to ascertain the resistance to gravity of brain matter which enters into the process of spending $12,000 for coaches to drill eleven men to play in one game of football against a Washington college.

SCIENCE AND SAFETY FIRST.

(New York Sun.)
What may be accomplished by systematic warfare against disease and accident is shown in a preliminary report on mortality in 1915 issued by the Bureau of the Census.

In eleven years the death rate from tuberculosis has fallen from 200.7 to 145.8 per 100,000, the steady decline year after year indicating the consistent success of the campaign. In pneumonia, too, the rate has fallen, but the fluctuations have been pronounced.

In 1913 there were 54,011 accidental deaths in the registration area of the United States; in 1914, 51,770, and in 1915 only 51,406, although the registration area and its population had increased. Figured by 100,000 of population, the death rate was 55.3 in 1913 and 76.3 two years later. The rate of death caused by railroad and street car accidents was in 1915 the lowest on record. The increase in the number of automobile fatalities has not been so rapid as the increase in the number of machines.

But there is one piece of machinery which has not been favorably affected by the safety first movement. The fireman heaps up its record. In 1915 it caused more deaths than the railroads, twice as many as the motor cars, five times as many as the street cars. The year's list of deaths by bullet in the registration district includes 3608 suicides, 2885 homicides and 1501 accidental killings. Along the barrel of a revolver there is no room for the "safety first" legend.

WESTERN POLITICAL SLANG.

(Chicago Evening Post.)
The West still keeps at its job of providing us with picturesque political slang. Along the Pacific coast the "dry" wave has produced adjectives describing its various gradations, and of these the absolute total prohibition extreme is succinctly known as a "bone-dry" law. To the western eye nothing could be much drier than the parched bone heaps on the arid plains. To the plains, also, the westerner goes for a label for those lawmakers whom even he considers eccentrically radical. He calls them "crazy-horses."

We must look to the West with even greater respect than ever since its political emergence of Tuesday, November 7. We must begin to learn its language in the dim, far-off hope of making New York understand it better.

NOTES and COMMENT

"Bryan denies that he is politically dead," says a despatch. Sometimes the corpse decides this question, but not always.

A Philadelphia man proposes a tax on organ grinders' monkeys. And they are in the habit of poking fun at Philadelphia for being slow.

San Leandro is joining the wide-awake procession of communities on this side of San Francisco bay by projecting an $80,000 hotel.

A man from Guinea cables the State Department to know who's elected. Maybe there was a reason for designating a certain class of persons as guineas.

Important historical item from the Chicago Enterprise: "Until the year 1645 it was the custom of the Norwegians to start in cutting a loaf of bread at the other end."

Alice Hager has cause for further indignation at the authorities of Blingum. Besides restraining dogs, their proposed ordinance is to require that their ages be given.

Burglars at Anderson broke into a store, took twenty-five watches, forty pocketknives and cooked supper while they waited, showing the inhabitants of Anderson are able to sleep.

Strange and unverified item from the Hanford Sentinel: "The price of digging up coffins in Oakland has advanced from $10 an exhumation to $25. Does this little item come under the high cost of living or of dying?"

Here is a bonus that will draw. Every person who attends the Spokane Apple Show gets a hot pie free. The visitors will know what to do with this souvenir, which is more than they might know if it were a plaque.

The President will have no inaugural ball. If there was anything in the hint that Mrs. Wilson would endeavor to induce a change of attitude on this subject, we are to conclude that the President is still President in every sense.

We are now expected to worry over a food famine in New York. It hasn't arrived, but it is threatened. It is to be "deadly" and "the most serious food shortage in the history of the city." Life of late seems to be just one food shortage after another.

A 298-foot steam yacht, with a crew of thirty-nine men, just to convey one man around through the canals, is a striking example of wasted power. Cleopatra and her barge may have involved more peacock display, but they do not compare otherwise with Mr. Cochran and his palatial steamship.

Unusual features of the election are being discussed. The Philadelphia Ledger calls attention to the fact that James K. Polk was the only president who failed to carry his own state, Tennessee. Henry Clay, his antagonist, also a Tennesseean, proved more popular at home than he was in the rest of the country. Mr. Wilson loses New Jersey by 40,000 and takes rank with Polk.

Chickasha, Okla., despatch to the Kansas City Star: "A. L. Lucadoo of this city, formerly of California, bet $1000 on the carrying of California by Hughes. He did it on the advice of his bride-to-be in California, who told him the women of California were for the Republican nominee. Lucadoo lost his thousand and he wired his fiancée that the engagement was off, for he would marry no woman who lived in California."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the Interior, and James T. Belcher were old schoolmates and later newspaper men together in Tacoma. Afterwards they came to California, where Lane became prominent in law and politics and Belcher in journalism. This long friendship is responsible for the fact that some beautiful homes on Van Tuemp creek, in Mt. Rainier national park, have been named Belcher falls.—Fresno Republican.

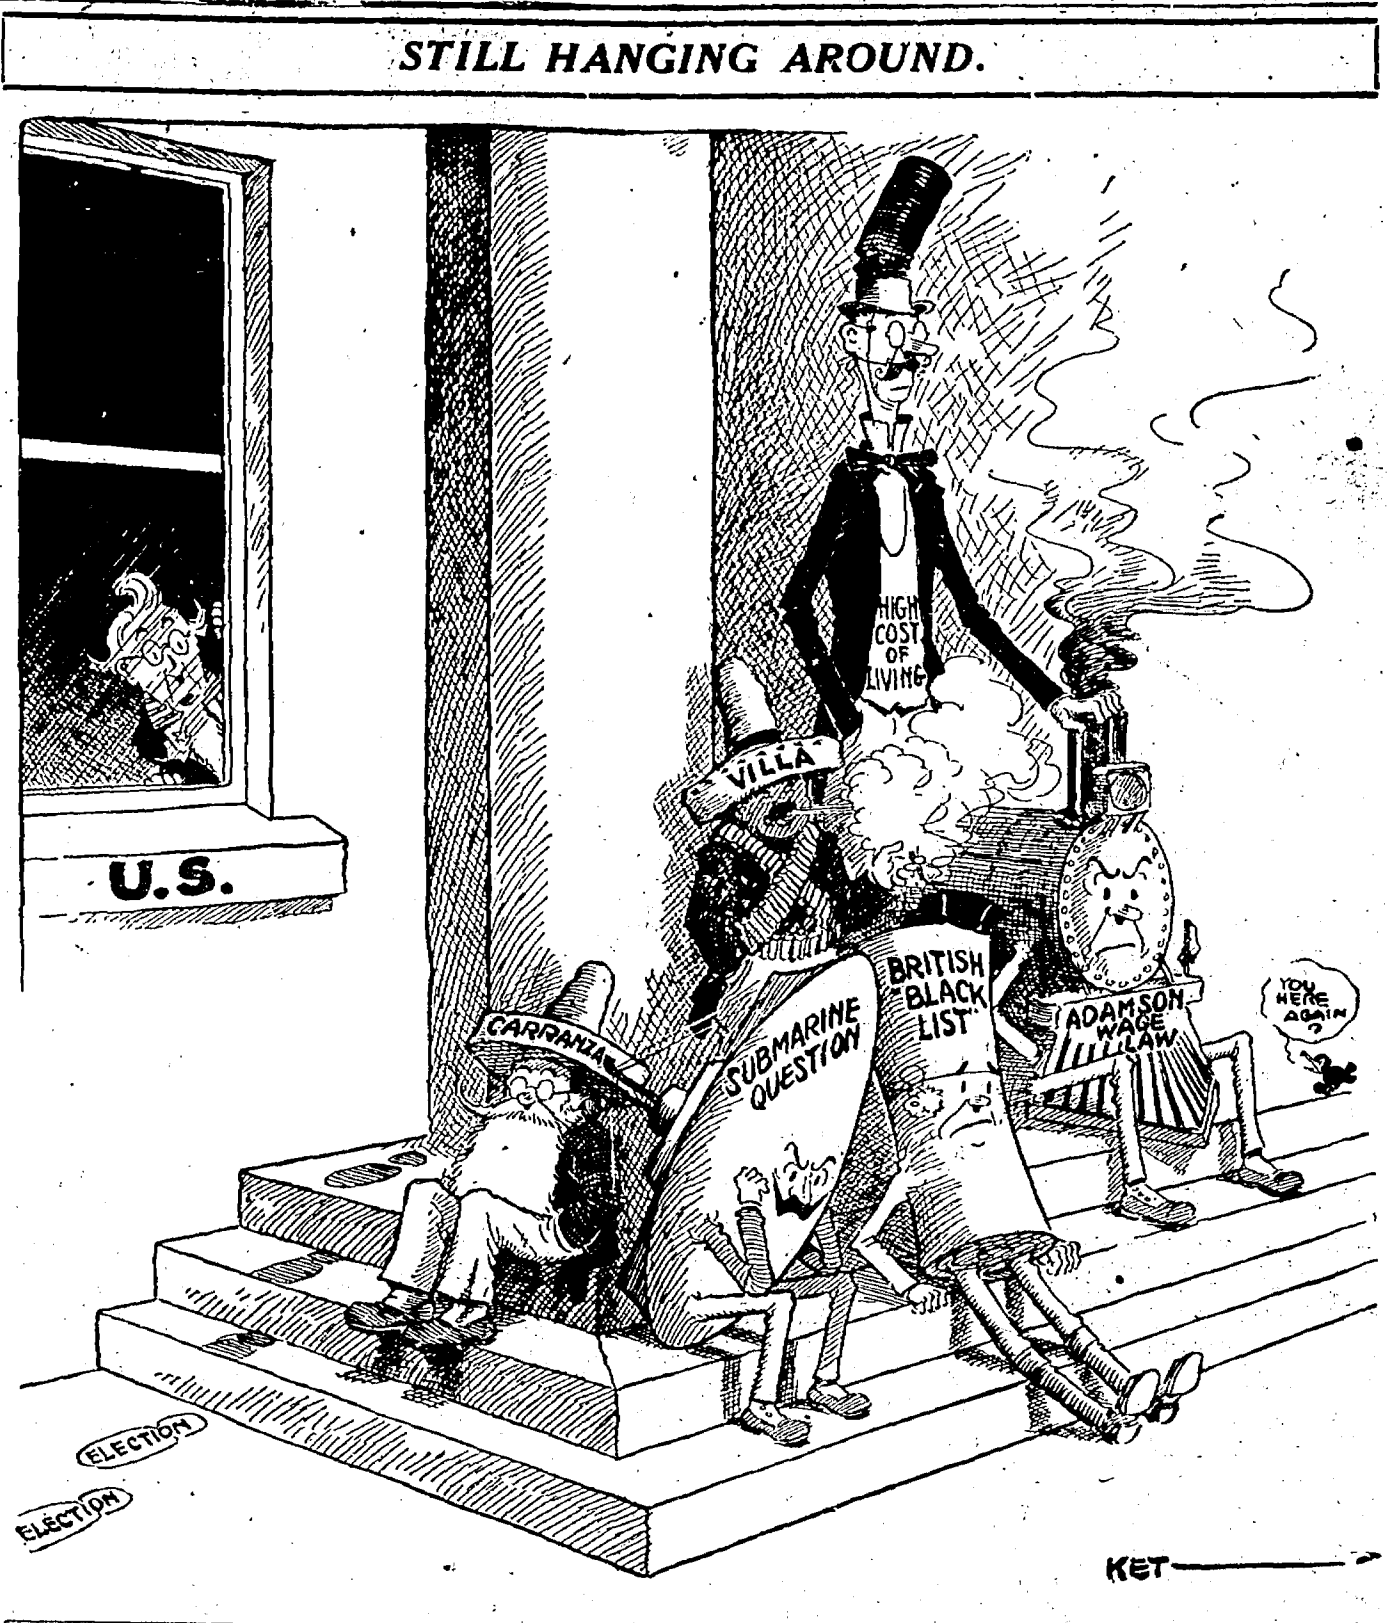

Tomatoes have gone up in price. Not because of the war in Europe—not because the grower has a corner on them—but because of a shortage of canned tomatoes in the hands of wholesalers. The growers were unable on account of unfavorable weather conditions to fill all the contracts they made with packers and prices have in consequence gone up.—Napa Register.

Porterville's city council is worried because the evidence collected in several blind-pig cases has disappeared and prosecution now seems impossible. In one instance liquor taken as evidence from a private house and ordered returned when the case failed has also gone and the owner is now claiming the value of the liquor from the city.—Hanford Sentinel.

With its population of nearly 3000, the town of Hayward may be disincorporated, but only that it may be reincorporated with an area more than five times its present size, and with a population close to 6000 people. Proposed annexation of land which will bring the area of the city up to thirty square miles and which will embrace a portion of Castro Valley, the Homestead district, and land in the direction of Mt. Eden and Decoto, is under the consideration of the town board and the Hayward Chamber of Commerce.—Pleasanton Times.

Years ago during the winter months great flocks of white swans would occasionally be seen in the waters of the overflooded districts of the Sacramento valley. In recent years they have seldom been seen in such numbers, but they are making their appearance in Lassen county this year. Deputy Game Warden Frank Cady says they have been seen in countless thousands at Honey Lake. It is unlawful to kill swans at any time.—Sacramento News.

Sentiment for a school farm at Riverside, similar to that of the University of California at Davis, is attracting attention in all parts of southern California and women's clubs and parent-teachers' associations are unitedly behind the project.—Riverside Enterprise.

OUR DEGENERATING FEET

High-heeled shoes and shoes with low heels or none at all have been blamed for the sad condition of the civilized human foot, which is reported badly afflicted with broken arch, corns, bunions and general deformity, not to say degeneracy. And now come the chiropodists, and depose and say that the feet of city people are in particularly bad case, being distinctly inferior to those of country dwellers, or to quote precisely, they are "much less resistant to fatigue than those of country people." We are informed that the tendency of urbanites to lose a tendral grip on the bones and muscles of their feet is constantly increasing. This, so goes the account, is due to lack of variety in the exercise of walking every step of the ruralite being varied whereas a city dweller finds the strain constant on one set of muscles.

This may not be an extremely elevated subject, but it is one of fundamental importance and considerable weight.

To a layman, shoes seem to hold more of menace to the human foot than does urban monotony. Their use, or rather their abuse, involves mutilation and to an extent atrophy, whereas as constant pattering on flat sidewalks and asphalt pavements demands nothing more than the exercise of that adaptability which the genus homo has in common with all animals. Other peoples beside the moderns have lived in paved cities and have escaped pedal degeneracy, but they have not generally abused their feet by encasing them in grotesque, ill-shaped and inflexible coverings. If the man and woman of today wear proper foot covering, he and she doubtless would find sufficient opportunity to exercise "tendral grip on the bones" even in so flat a city as Detroit, though of course it is possible the chiropodists might as experts come to recognize as distinct types the city foot, the country foot and, as a blend, the suburban foot. There is a difference between the foot of a fowl and the foot of a duck, but neither is degenerate.—Detroit Free Press.

COST OF LIVING IN CANADA.

The contention of some Democratic newspapers that the restoration of the Republican tariff would further raise the cost of living in Northern states by cutting off the importation of food-stuffs from Canada is negated by this fact: The cost of living is as high in Canada as it is in this country. It costs as much to live in Toronto as it does in Buffalo, as much in rural Ontario as it does in rural New York or rural New England.

When the Laurier government went to the people of Canada on the reciprocity issue in 1911 the principal argument in favor of a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States was that it would reduce the cost of living in Canada to the level then obtaining on this side of the border! The Liberal papers of Canada daily contained quotations from markets on both sides which showed that living was cheaper in the United States than in Canada.

That was five years ago, but there has been little change. The cost of living has advanced at least as rapidly in Canada as it has here.—Buffalo Express.

AN AUTUMN DAY.

The painter gazed on his canvas Stretching before him, so fair, Then lifted his soft white brush, Touching it here and there. Touching and blending with colors From crimson to russet brown, And gilding the pathway, the stream and the bridge, Soft showers of gold came down.

The seer gazed in rapture On the scene that before him lay, Then fervently thanked the Maker For the joy of an Autumn Day. —Montreal Star.

THE THANKSGIVING TURKEY

The turkey is a serious bird. The expression written on his bill, as he looks mournfully out over the world or walks solemnly, his long neck swaying here and there, in search of the passing grasshopper, is that of a settled melancholy due to the certainty of fate and to the hereditary loss of his illusions.

For, ever since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers, the lives of countless generations of the turkey family have been cut short in their primes by sudden and bloody tragedy. What would be the effect upon the minds and hearts of a human family if every member of it, for 300 years back, had met a violent and bloody end just upon reaching maturity? A pall would hang over the annals of the house. Despair, fixed and settled, would be written into the very constitutions of its members, and life would become a burden, a curse almost too great to be borne.

It must have been that one of the Pilgrim Fathers, viewing the end of the turkey as symbolic of that of man, wrote that cheerful ditty which our ancestors were accustomed to sing in their gatherings for divine worship: They were here some eternal day And must thy children die so soon?

Then, in addition to all his, you will find, if you inquire the cause of the extreme prices asked by those who have the national bird for sale at Thanksgiving time, that the life of the turkey is beset with numerous and deadly snares, other than that of the bucolic ax. You will find that "the wet spring killed off the young turkeys," or that "the drouth this year was hard on turkeys," or that "a mysterious disease" slew "thousands of small turkeys this summer." You may obtain anyone of these explanations, or you may get them all. Surely the days of the turkey are vanity, and if by any reason he escapes the pestilences of young turkeyhood, or the snare of the fowler at Thanksgiving time, there yet remains the active ax of the agriculturist at the glad Christmas season.

No wonder "turkey is high," that he is now almost a luxury in the ordinary American home. There are turkeys enough, turkeys to roast, yet they come high—as high as their first ancestors roosted on the ridge-pole of the old barn with their heads to the storm and the north wind.—Minneapolis Journal.

BIG MOMENTS IN GREAT ACTING

My first impression of "the Duse" was that of a woman weeping in a sort of dumb, impotent way. Of all sorrow that I ever saw depicted upon the stage, this seemed the most poignant and appealing. It was like a dog that had been kicked. I noticed the same thing in the great Italian actor Novelli. No, one has ever cried on the stage to me as have these two artists. They made you feel uncomfortable, as though some faux pas had been precipitated in the play that should not have occurred. When I beheld Novelli weep, it was "in Lear" and when the old man was deserted by his daughters the actor simply broke your heart. He cried in such a quiet, dumb, hopeless way, it was the grayest grief I had ever seen on the stage with the exception of Duse in "Cavalleria Rusticana."

In "Lear" Novelli uttered a wonderful bit of business when his troubles drove him mad—he plucked at invisible straws. With eyes staring and hands outstretched, he was, ever reaching phantom objects suspended in mid-air! It was the epitome of madness and illustrated in a vivid, authoritative touch the flash of an unbalanced mind. In the audience the night I saw that performance at the Marlowe, who was watching intently Lyric theater in New York was Julia from a box. A few months afterward I went to see Miss Marlowe as Ophelia. In her mad scene (over a particularly fine piece of work) she suddenly began plucking at straws just as Novelli did. This was the second or third time I had seen her in the part, and I did not remember her doing this before. In this I may be in error and it may have been neither imitation nor unconscious imitation, but in any event it illustrates the interesting fact again, that great mind alike, and makes one think of the story told me by one of her company when Duse was witnessing a performance of Miss Marlowe as Juliet.

It was in the potion scene, I think, when Duse suddenly jumped to her feet, exclaiming, "Why, she is doing all my business!" The actor who told me this seemed to think it proved the fact that if a state of mind were truly and thoroughly dissected the result in expression must be the same. Yet Duse with all her reputed intelligence seemed petrified with astonishment.—Theater Magazine.

THE JESTER.

And swiftly, too, "My word!" exclaimed the Briton, indignantly. "You Americans are always calling us slow. Just cite an example, will you?" "Certainly," chuckled the New Yorker. "An Englishman can 'stand' for parliament and be elected. An American who wants a congressional seat has to 'run' for it."—Chicago Herald.

No Joke Either. "Isn't it awful the way prices have gone up?" "It surely is. Just think, my husband will have to work three weeks to get money enough to pay for this simple little gown I have on."—Detroit Free Press.

A Fertile Topic. Perhaps some future Gibbon will write "The History of the Rise and Fall of the Zeppelin."—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Effect of Disipation. An aged mother was scolding her oldest son for some of his bad habits. "Ain't you 'shamed of yourself," she exclaimed, "to be chawin' tobacco and smokin' that old pipe. You jes' ruin' of your health!" "But listen, ma," replied her son, "I am 70 years old, ain't I?" "Yes, you is," admitted the mother. "but maybe if you didn't chaw an' smoke you'd be 90 now."—Vancouver (Ohio) Telegram.

NEW T. & D. THEATER OPENS TOMORROW

$500,000 PLAYHOUSE COMPLETED

Motion Picture Palace, One of Most Pretentious in Country, to Put on Its Premier Performance Wednesday Night

Great $48,500 Organ Is One of Many Unusual Features; Will Seat 3,500 Persons and Is a Triumph for Builders

Oakland's new $500,000 theater, one of the most pretentious, artistic and original on the Pacific Coast, will make its initial bow to the world of theater-goers on Wednesday evening, when every portion of it, from its stuccoed front to the motors in its $48,500 organ, will be opened for inspection at the premier performance. The theater is the recently completed Turner & Dahnken playhouse on Eleventh street between Broadway and Franklin street. Designed primarily as a motion picture house of the most modern type, it embodies a score of unique ideas that make it the most original theater of its kind west of the Rocky Mountains and the finest playhouse in Oakland.

SEATING CAPACITY. The seating capacity of the theater, including both lower and balcony floors, is placed at 3,500 persons. Each seat is so placed that a free and unobstructed view is had of the picture itself, without the intervention of pillars or other obstructions. On both upper and lower floors are brass railed loges for special parties. The upper floor is reached by a broad, general declivity which rises from the main entrance to the mezzanine floor, passing the Pompeian room and the tea room. To right and left on the balcony are smoking rooms and rest rooms for patrons.

MARBLE WALLS. The lower vestibule leading to the foyer is niched for potted plants, with spaces for hand-painted pictures of leading motion picture stars. The floor is of Knosper quarry tile and the walls of marble. The foyer extends the entire width of the house, and is floored in tile and wainscotted in marble. The balustrades leading to the mezzanine floor are also of hand-polished marble of Etruscan design.

On the main floor, aisles extend in a gentle slant toward the stage and orchestra pit, where the fifteen-ton organ is housed. At intervals, lights imbedded in the ceiling and walls give a soft illumination to persons wishing to pass to and from the seats. The lights are arranged in five colors, controlled from the organ seat, so that sunset, moonlight, morning, firelight and other film lightings may receive a correspondingly harmonious house lighting, at the same time leaving patrons free to move about the theater. The lower floor seats are so arranged that persons can pass from aisles to inside seats without causing anyone to arise. The main decorative scheme of the lower floor is oranges and pomegranates, symbolic of California products.

ROMAN EXTERIOR. The exterior of the building, which occupies nearly a quarter of a block, is Roman in foundation, with a modern art facade executed in mat-glazed terra cotta. At intervals along the upper edge are huge stone containers, from which jets of steam spout continually. Red lights imbedded in the containers give the appearance of an ancient temple with urns of sacrificial incense burning on their tops. Above the great containers are the fresh-air intakes. Through great pipes, the air is conducted to the basement, sterilized, heated or cooled to the proper temperature, and thrown into the body of the theater by a huge eight-foot fan. The bad air is taken out through the organ ventilators by a fan of equal capacity, the whole operation being controlled automatically by electric thermostats. The fans are designed to supply and exhaust 60,000 cubic feet of air per minute, in such a way that motion of air currents is felt by patrons.

STAGE SETS. A feature of the new playhouse is the stage sets which accompany the various productions. Instead of a flat wall with a white screen, on which the picture is thrown, the screen in the new playhouse hangs in the center of a regular theater stage of about thirty feet in depth. Sets portraying scenes shown in the pictures, to permit of appropriate prologues in advance of the main production, will be thrown up in advance. In the opening production Wednesday night, which takes place in an Irish setting, stage drops will portray bits of scenery known to every Irishman in the world over. The idea is said to be entirely original in motion picture houses.

WELL ADAPTED. The idea of the exterior of the theater with the modern art facade of mat-glazed terra cotta, is the work of the architects, Cunningham and Politeo, who have designed a number of theaters, among which are the

Ladies' Tea Room For New Theater

Innovation Is Planned by Owners

Adjoining the Pompeian room, fronting on Eleventh street, through which light drifts in through yellow silken curtains of the new T. & D. theater, is the ladies' tea room, a distinct innovation in comfort features. Here, where every effort has been made to make the place attractive, tea and fancy cakes will be served during the open hours of the theater, by dainty maids. The room, which is done in English vandyke, is at the end of the main mezzanine terminal. Potted palms and ferns and art jardiniere form the decorative features of the room. Scores of yellow throated canaries in cages hung from every portion of the room will make the place a veritable paradise of flowers and song. In the evening, soft lights from invisible sources will spread a soothing effulgence over the room. The management have spent particular attention to items in connection with the tea room, which will make it famous as a popular feminine gathering place.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21.—Bishop Alpheus W. Wilson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died at his home here today. He was 82 years old.

POMPEIAN REST ROOM PROVIDED

Is Unique Way to Cater to the Comfort of Theater Going Public.

Here parties may meet by appointment, or theater goers may rest between acts or pictures. At the entrance of the Pompeian room, a marble drinking fountain of new design, with sanitary spaces for children has been installed. Bells, arranged in the room, will give notice of the change of reel or program on the screen in the main portion of the theater for the information of the rest room patrons.

A feature of the new theater is the Pompeian room on the mezzanine floor, which is one of the unique means of catering to the comfort of theatrical patrons on the Pacific Coast. Behind ornate stucco pillars, the rest room spreads out the size of an ordinary hotel lounge room. In the center is a glass aquarium filled with gold fish. Colored lights from beneath, thrown upward by powerful reflectors, will illuminate the fish.

The general design of the room, both as to furnishings and tone, is pure Pompeian. Curial chairs, tall Pompeian vases, statuary of the design of Pliny's time, tapestries woven in the period of early Rome, will form a background for exquisitely moulded lounging divans and luxurious settees, while hand-painted mural frieze around the four sides of the room will complete the unique ensemble.

OFFICIALS TAKE OATH. MARTINEZ, Nov. 21.—The oath of office was administered to Supervisors J. H. Trythall, J. P. Casey and W. J. Buchanan, who were re-elected on November 7 last. The board will meet on the first Monday of January and name a chairman and organize the various committees.

DISEASE QUARANTINED. LIVERMORE, Nov. 21.—During the past month several cases of scarletina have broken out. They were placed under quarantine by Health Officer Dr. J. K. Warner. Those now under present quarantine are the Worth, Berlin and Kaiser residences.

WONDERFUL MUSIC FOR T. & D. THEATER

Wurlitzer Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra Installed at a Cost of $48,500.

Turner & Dahnken, owners of the new T. & D. theater, have spared no expense in giving Oakland the finest motion picture house on the coast. This is evidenced by no small measure when it is realized that they spent $48,500 for a Wurlitzer Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra, the most wonderful invention of the world-famous organ builder, Robert Hope-Jones. This instrument combines the majestic tones of the pipe organ with the orchestral ensemble and places it under the instantaneous and unified control of a single musician. Electrical parts play a most important part in the construction of this instrument. Many miles of fine wire are used in the construction, contacts being of silver and platinum. A particular feature of the instrument is that an electro magnet is used for each and every pipe or sound effect in the instrument. The combinations of the various instruments and the possibilities of the instrument are practically unlimited. With the event of the Wurlitzer Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra, which combines the grandeur of the church organ with that of the symphony orchestra, the organ is said to have come into its own.

IS COMBINATION. Among the many instrumentations combined in this one instrument are the ophicleide, bass, tuba, horn, alto, contra viol, clarinet, saxophone, oboe, trumpet, diapason, violin, celeste, flute, vox humana, viol octave, octave cello, piccolo, crysoglot, xylophone, marimbaphone, clockenspiel, harp, electric bells, sleigh bells, Cathedral chimes, snare drum, bass drum, kettle drum, tom tom drum, cymbals, triangle, tambourine, castanets. A most important feature and possibility obtained only on the Wurlitzer Hope-Jones Unit Orchestra is that the player by the double touch of the player by a little harder pressure from one finger can bring out in solo any one of the numerous instruments; and at the same time, the other fingers of the same hand are playing the melody parts on different instruments. The double touch is often described as giving the organist four hands and four feet when playing the unit orchestra.

The largest pipes in the unit orchestra weigh as much as half a ton.

'JOAQUIN PAGEANT' WILL BE PLANNED

Elaborate Affair to Do Honor to Dead "Poet of the Sierras."

The Joaquin Miller Club has arranged a business meeting and general "get together" for tomorrow afternoon in Convention Hall of the Municipal Auditorium when plans for the Joaquin Pageant will be discussed. Alex Stewart, Phyllis Cunningham, secretary to the music committee of the Chamber of Commerce and George W. Ritch with representatives from the playground department, have been invited to confer with the women. Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College has prepared a tentative copy of a pageant which will make a working basis for discussion.

For the past several years since the passing of the famous poet it has been a custom to make a pilgrimage to the "Hights" on the last Sunday in May. Next year this ceremony will be planned on an elaborate scale, engaging the attention of this part of the state. It is yet to be decided whether the unique observance shall be continued an annual or extended into a biennial event. The officers of the club who are endeavoring to bring all the organizations together in a co-operation including Dr. Minora Kibbe, president; Mrs. Fred G. Harrison, first vice-president; Mrs. Charles Hyde, second vice-president; Mrs. F. C. Bennett, secretary; Mrs. Joell Clunie, treasurer.

NOTE OF TRAGEDY IN ORGAN'S PAST

Inventor Worried Over Hard Work, Committed Suicide at Finish.

The marvelous Wuritzer Hope-Jones organ has an element of grim tragedy in its history. The invention of Hope-Jones, one of the best known organ manufacturers and scientists in the country, it ended the life of one man by its weird assortment of technicalities, for Jones, worried over the strain of perfecting the most complicated mechanism of its kind, committed suicide shortly after its completion.

One of its most important features, the two-tone keys, arranged in tri-tone-keyboard formation for the hand keys and double tiers for the foot pedals, are so constructed that a light pressure on them will give one set of tones, while increased pressure will bring in tuba tones, bell chimes or other tonal combinations. In addition, the pressure of a button will throw into action, automatically, a suitable base for any piece played on the great organ, whose manipulations are supposed to take the place of 200 musicians in orchestral effects.

Alongside the manual keyboard of the main organ system, where the expert organist, through pipes and stops holds away over nearly 20,000 sound combinations, is an automatic player attachment, similar to the piano. This is intended for intermediate music and is so simply a 14-year-old girl can operate it. A roll of paper, giving the impetus to the mechanism, gives the impetus to the keys. The operators handles control levers and secures the necessary expression.

Film Stars to Be at Opening Addresses Will Be Delivered

Stars in the motion picture world will make their personal appearance at the opening ceremony of the T. & D. theater tomorrow, including Sessuo Hayakawa, famous Japanese actor, and his clever wife, Tsuru Aoki, and Myrtle Stedman, a renowned beauty of the American stage.

Speakers who have been asked to take part in the opening are Mayor John L. Davis, Joseph R. Knowland, representing the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; H. C. Capwell, representing the Downtown Association, and E. B. Johnson of the Turner & Dahnken circuit.

A carefully selected program of high-class motion pictures will be shown on the huge screen on opening night. Marguerite Clark will appear in a bright comedy, "Miss George Washington," a story of a girl who couldn't tell the truth. This play will be followed by Dustin Farnum in a Paramount masterpiece, "A Son of Erin," depicting a struggle against great political forces.

Thirty minutes after the doors of the theater are thrown open to the public for the first time at 7 o'clock, a famous musician will give an organ recital on the great super-organ, the Wuritzer Hope-Jones unit organ-orchestra, accompanied by a chorus of male and female voices. This organ is the largest on the Pacific Coast and the sixth largest in the world. Before the program, a half-hour will be given over to a public inspection of the house, which contains many innovations. Stairs are absent and their place is taken by a wide and easily-walked incline leading to the balcony and overlooking the usual threeseat stage. Situated at the head of this gradient is an artistically appointed tea room, where the lady patrons will be served tea, cakes and ices during intervals in the performance.

CANARIES A' FEATURE.
Luxuriously furnished ladies' parlors, the last word in refinement and comfort, are adjacent to the tea rooms. Here are sofas, lounges, writing desks, telephones and a variety of other conveniences which are such an attractive feature of the theater. Sweet-singing canaries lend an added charm to these parlors. Dressing rooms, containing triple-mirrored tables, lounging chairs and settees are situated next to the ladies' reception parlor.

Alcazar and Imperial theaters of San Francisco. They recently had plans adopted for the construction of a new high-class theater at the corner of Fourth and Market streets, also in San Francisco, with a seating capacity of 3000 persons. The architects offer the assurance that nowhere in the United States is there a theater better adapted for the use intended nor where the comforts of the patrons are better safeguarded.

The new playhouse will be under the management of George Thornton, resident manager of the T. and D. system of playhouses, who has been personally supervising the final details preliminary to Wednesday's opening, together with other officials of the company, will be present on that occasion. The theater is the ninth in the chain of T. and D. houses on the Pacific Coast.

ton, while in remarkable contrast the smallest pipes are not much larger than an ordinary match stick. The instrument is installed in the various chambers constructed of concrete because of the wonderful power of this instrument, some of the stops being voiced on as high as thirty-inch wind pressure. The concrete boxes are built over the proscenium arch, with an echo or solo organ at a distance. The great and foundations stops have many new stops and names not familiar to the musical world, they being of recent invention. The diaphone is a soft, powerful tone, it being gained by resonators vibrating in large pipes. This tone is pleasing to the ear, and has wonderful carrying power. A signal whistle on this type built by Robert Hope-Jones is used on the eastern coast of Canada, and is heard many miles out at sea. The tuba horns are of brass quality, and when the swell of the instrument is open a most wonderful thunder effect can be obtained, whereas the same stop when the swell is closed can be played so softly as to accompany a single voice.

The Wuritzer Hope-Jones unit orchestra received the gold medal of honor when exhibited in the United States Steel Corporation exhibit at the Panama-Pacific international exposition.

The Rudolph Wuritzer Company is the largest manufacturer of organs in the world. The Pacific Coast branch is located at 935 Market street, San Francisco, and is under the management of George H. Leathurby.

Judge Knew Prisoner, So He Paid Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Lieutenant Horace Pillsbury of the naval station at Yerba Buena Island today petitioned Superior Judge Graham to set aside the default entered against him recently in the suit for divorce brought by his wife, Harriet Pillsbury, indicating that he will fight the case. Recently Lieutenant Pillsbury was cited before Judge Graham to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court in failing to pay his wife temporary alimony. It developed that he had been entertained by Judge Graham in social affairs and when the court recognized his old friend, Lieutenant Pillsbury paid the alimony, whereupon Judge Graham stated that he was glad that he would not have to send him to jail.

BLONDE ESKIMOS THREATEN FIGHT

Explorer Stefansson Writes He Is Suspected of Causing Epidemic.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Fear that blonde Eskimos may prove a menace to his expedition are expressed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer, in a letter written from Cape Kellett, Banks Island, in the Arctic, and received today by Dr. Herbert J. Spindler, assistant curator of anthropology at the American Museum of Natural History in this city. Stefansson wrote in part:

"We have had a falling out with the blonde Eskimos (Kaghliyu-Armit), which is exceedingly unfortunate. . . . To make matters tenfold worse they got a severe cold (influenza, or whatever you call it) and the last we knew were on the verge of starvation because of illness had prevented hunting. They believed we gave them influenza by witchcraft and prayed us, by deputation, to remove the epidemic. Should death occur either from disease or starvation, the break with them will be serious."

Robber Loots Cash Register of Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The Emory Hotel cash drawer was robbed last night. Charles Johnson, night clerk of the hotel at 144 Eddy street, reported the matter to the police today, telling them that during the course of the night he made several trips to upper floors of the house and that it was not until this morning that he found the money gone. Over $40 was in the till.

NEW LAWS MANY FOR MINNESOTA

Various Reforms to Be Placed Before Legislature by Commission.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 21.—Statutory state wide prohibition, woman suffrage, a tonnage tax on Minnesota's 1,200,000,000 tons of unmined iron ore, and reforms in state government that will follow the recommendations of a hard-working economy and efficiency commission that has been on the job two years, will be essential considerations of the 1917 sessions of the Minnesota state legislature, starting in January.

One of the first things Senator E. E. Lobeck of Alexandria will do will be the introduction of a state-wide prohibition bill, provided for by the statute, without submission to voters. Woman suffrage must be submitted to the voters and get a two-thirds majority before Minnesota women may vote. Two years ago the house sought to submit the issue to the voters but the senate blocked it by three votes.

Tonnage taxes will be aimed largely at the United States Steel Corporation which controls much of the ore of the state. On mines it owns, it pays a tax of eighteen cents a ton, whether or not the ore is mined. The state owns ten per cent of the mines in the state and leases them, for which it is paid a royalty of 25 cents a ton, which will be replaced by a higher tonnage tax, probably.

Cloth Tubes Fastened to Wrist Aid Pickers

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—To aid fruit pickers there has been invented a cloth tube to be attached to the wrist or the picking hand, through which the fruit can be dropped to a bag suspended from the shoulders.

CAR PROBLEM IS WORRY TO GROWERS

Orange Crop, Endangered As Need for 52,000 Cars Is Shown.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—Car shortage conditions, which are acute throughout the United States, are causing apprehension on the part of Southern California citrus growers, who expect this year to harvest the biggest crop of oranges in the history of the industry. It is estimated that 52,000 cars will be needed to handle the crop, and both the railroads and the orange and lemon shippers are wondering whether necessary number of refrigerator cars will be forthcoming.

At present, owing to the country-wide shortage of cars, many refrigerator cars are being held by Eastern and Northern railroads and used for local grain and cotton shipments. In California, however, all of the refrigerator cars are being held for the movement of oranges and lemons. Appeals to the traffic heads of Eastern and Northern railroads are being made to release the refrigerator cars as soon as possible, and the California Orange Growers' Exchange has also sent scores of telegrams, seeking the release of the cars that must be returned in order to handle the California crop.

I. L. Hilbard, general superintendent for the Santa Fe, said yesterday that although the situation is such that every effort must be made to prevent a disastrous shortage, he is optimistic in his belief that sufficient cars will be available to handle the crop without delay.

OLD CAT ADOPTS RABBIT.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 21.—Abram B. Lutz of Marietta, Pa., has an old cat that is rearing a rabbit, together with a litter of kittens. While going to the barn early one morning he noticed the rabbit, and thinking it would die placed it with the little kittens. The cat has adopted it.

OPERA AND BOX CHAIRS

Next to witnessing the leading artists of the world in Motion Pictures, the matter of a comfortable seat is of the most importance in the minds of Messrs. Turner and Dahnken.

To insure the utmost comfort the management has carefully consulted the public wants.

The OPERA CHAIRS throughout the entire house are luxuriously equipped with Spring Seats, both seat and back upholstered in Spanish leather, the wood work being finished in mahogany, the standards in gold bronze. The chairs are also equipped with the new patented Heywood self-balancing noiseless hinge, which permits of the seat being tipped back at a mere touch. The special construction of these chairs allows more room between rows and gives greater convenience in passing in and out.

The 300 LOGE and BOX CHAIRS are of a special design selected by Mr. C. L. Langley, treasurer, and Mr. F. B. Johnson, secretary of the Turner & Dahnken Circuit, made of the finest selected reed, extra large, with comfortable arms, finished in old ivory with upholstered cushions in colors to harmonize with the draperies.

After careful consideration the entire contract for the 4000 chairs was awarded to and the entire equipment installed by the well-known house of

CONVENTION CHIEF IN U. C. PROGRAM

Junior Day Reception to Dr. Howison, Musical, Are Other Events

BIRKBEY, Nov. 21.—With the fall semester of the university term nearing an end, several events of importance have been scheduled for the coming week. The California Association of Applied Arts and Sciences will hold a bay section meeting Saturday morning, from 9:30 o'clock until 1:30 and will include meetings of several departments.

The early meeting will be in rooms in Main Hall while the association luncheon will be in the Faculty Club. The short session from 1 to 1:45 will be in California Hall.

Junior class members of the University of California have set aside Saturday afternoon for a "fence and curtain-raiser" junior day. The fence and curtain-raiser will occupy the afternoon and the evening.

The week's program will close with the half-hour of music in the Greek theater at 8 o'clock.

Naval Base Site to Come Before Exchange

A committee of the Oakland Merchants' Exchange, consisting of E. L. Vander Nallen, R. M. Henningsen, A. Jonas, J. J. Malarkey, Wilber Walker and Harry G. Williams, made an investigation yesterday of the proposed site for the United States naval base at San Le-

Andro Bay. This site is being urged by the residents of this section and the Merchants' Exchange committee was in charge of the members of the Fitchburg Improvement Club, who are especially active in advocating this site. The exchange committee will report to the

At the meeting of the board tonight the New Year's eve celebration committee is also to file a report, outlining the preliminary plans for the "big time" this

Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and bad the next, but who are not not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and refreshing, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Advertisement

RAILROAD COMMISSION

The Castro Point Railway and Terminal Company has filed with the railroad commission an application for authority to issue $30,000 of its capital stock, $16,152.93 to discharge obligations, and the remainder to continue the construction of the Castro Point railway. The railroad commission last June authorized the issue of those shares when the company should prove to the commission that it had completed the construction of its proposed line. The application today says that the company has built a line of single track 1500 feet in length connecting the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway in Richmond to a wharf which the company has leased to Charles Van Damme. This track promits the street cars of the terminal railroad to run on and on the wharf, connecting with the ferry service maintained by the Richmond, San Rafael Ferry and Transportation Company, between Richmond and San Rafael, in Marin county. The obligations the company wishes to pay are loans from Blake and his associates, in Washington, D. C. It says that the cost of construction of its lines to November 1, 1919, was $64,000.78.

The Central California Gas Company has supplied the railroad commission with a $50,000 worth of 6 per cent notes, to be sold at not less than 88 per cent of face value on the basis, and to pledge an equal value of gas, and prior preferred stock of the company proceeds with such note sold, the proceeds of the sale of stock, and the notes.

The city of Calexico, Imperial county, filed with the railroad commission a complaint against the Imperial Telephone and Telegraph Company.

to investigate the rates of the companies in Toluca, and to fix reasonable rates. The phones used by the public and for phone service must be installed by Calcelec for fire, police and ambulance services. The city also wants the companies to compete for the right to install the phones. The complaint says that the present rate of $150 a month for a one-party, line-sharing telephone is excessive. Two-party business desk telephone, with proportionate minutes down to $250 a month, is excessive. Residential telephone, with proportionate minutes, is excessive. Calcelec is not interested in plans putting in a system of street-level phones for emergency use. The complaint asks for a new system of one-party phones and the company asks for a new system of two-party phones. The complaint says this is an unjust rate. The company says it is not interested in the phones have been used only for fire, police and ambulance services. The complaint says that the company was using old-style phones that have to be worked with

Road Work Planned by Contra Costa County

MARTINEZ, Nov. 21. — Contra Costa is going to have one of the greatest chains of concrete highways to be found anywhere in the world when the plan for the County Superhighway Authority and its assistants are realized. The members of the county board of supervisors are: George W. Brown, president; John Casey, Zeh Knott and W. J. Buchanan are members. The project is a 100-mile highway to be built in 12 months. November witnessed the pouring of the last concrete on the first section of division No. 4 of the county highways system, and this section is commonly known as the "Byron-County Line Stretch." This concrete highway came from the Alameda county line to within about half a mile of the city of Martinez. Another fine piece of road construction is that in division No. 4, east of Pittsburg.

City Government to Move Into New Hall

of city government might be moved to the new city hall before the first of the year the city council last night rescinded its resolution to take action on a prior contract for the hall under the December thirty-five days after the acceptance of the building by the citizens' committee and proceeded to award contracts for the building to the lowest bidder. The bidders for installation in the new structure were J. E. Garrard was authorized by the council to sign the contracts and the city's time was given for their completion. George J. Garrard, the citizens' committee, advised the council that there were sufficient funds in the treasury at present to pay all outstanding bills. The council's decision was settled by arbitration and by December 6 the building will be absolutely free of debt.

CHERRY'S TERMS ON VELOUR AND BOLIVIA COATS

Have Made Many Contented Women

Content does not exist in the heart of the woman who cannot think of her clothes with satisfaction and pride. If you are one of the many women whose clothes do not always please—if you have occasional "shabby spells"—then you know this is true. And it isn't so often a matter of having actually fewer wearables than you need during a certain season that makes you miserable. It's more likely the fact of having to wait a month or two AFTER you want a coat or suit or dress before you have enough money saved to pay for it. Isn't that so? Well, here's the remedy—start buying your clothes ON CREDIT! Stop into CHERRY'S SHOP at 515 Thirteenth street. Select from the big assortments of exquisite Velour and Bolivia Coats. Then open your credit department, paying a few dollars down and arranging weekly or monthly terms for the balance. Cherry's women's store is at 515 Thirteenth street. The men's shop is at 528 Thirteenth street. San Francisco stores are at 2400 Mission street, corner Twentieth, and at 1008 Market street, just above Sixth. Also Tacoma, Portland, Los Angeles and Sacramento.—Advertisement.

Private Auto May Be Barred in France

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The private automobile is a luxury which can be dispensed with in war time, is the opinion of the economic commission. Considering that in the present time all the resources of the country must be devoted exclusively to the national defense, the commission in a report made public today, urges the government to suppress, without delay, or reduce the number of all automobiles not strictly utilized in the public service, or destined for industrial or commercial uses.

New Calendar Is Soldier's Plan Military Man Would Out-Caesar Caesar

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Even while the world war is raging around them, day dreamers and idealists have found time to send a few suggestions from the front trenches in Ploesty. A corporal, inspired by the comfortable surroundings of a newly-captured German dugout, suggests that a new era for the world should be created immediately after the war is over, the year one beginning on the day peace is finally declared. Another reformer is propounding the theory that at the end of the existing unpleasantness, the allies should return to the French Republican calendar, which begins the first month of the year on September 21 instead of January 1, and retained it the month of Vintage. The names of the other months are changed, according to the soldier idealist, to make life more cheerful. For instance, the second month would be known as Foggy, the third Sleet, and others as Rainy, Windy, Budding, Flowery, Harvest and Fruit. If this plan were adopted, today would be Windy the Twelfth. Thinking along the same lines, a third dreamer languishing in some shell crater out in Normans Land, believes the weeks are too short. He would have a week consist of ten days, the days to be named in terms of rhythm and poetry, grace and beauty. He also is inspired with the desire for a new era after the war. There seems to be divergent views as to whether the first year of the new era should be known as the "Year One, A. P. (After Peace)" or "The Year One, A. K." (After Knock-out).

COLLISION DIDN'T WAKE BOY.
BRYANT, S. D., Nov. 21.—A peculiar incident in connection with a collision between two automobiles is reported from the Lyons district of Hamilton county. The two autos collided with such force that the occupants of both cars, with the exception of a 12-year-old boy, were thrown from the cars to the ground. The boy at the time of the collision was asleep in the back seat of the smaller of the two cars. After the collision those three from the car looked around for him, finding him in the front seat of the car. The boy was yet asleep and on being awakened could not explain how he had made the flying leap from the back to the front seat.

NEW ARMY CHIEF PLANNING WORK

Dr. Kurt Sorge Discusses Aims and Gives Plan of Action.

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Dr. Kurt Sorge, the new technical chief of staff to General Gruener in the department of munitions, who will head the industrial department in the new war bureau of the war ministry and upon whom will fall a large share of the responsibility for the creation, maintenance and efficiency of the proposed "home army," that is to complement and sustain the armies in the field, has arrived in Berlin to take up his new work. Soon after his arrival Dr. Sorge received an Associated Press correspondent to whom he expressed confidence that the new organization and general scheme of the home army will prove efficacious and successful.

APPROPRIATE INTEREST.
Dr. Sorge showed keen appreciation of the interest displayed in America concerning all economic and industrial steps, which the warring nations will take. "You must give me a little time to find out for myself what is planned," Dr. Sorge said at the conclusion of the interview. "I am a firm believer in taking the neutral press into our confidence and discussing with it and I shall be glad to discuss the matter later with you when I myself am sure of my ground. I may not be able to give all of the details of the new organization, but at least I can tell you something—including letting you know what I am not at liberty to say."

IS DEMOCRATIC.
Dr. Sorge is a man of middle age, fully six feet tall and with close cropped, gray hair. He is a person of polite, utterly democratic, a charming conversationalist with a faculty of putting the visitor at ease, though waiting no time in coming to the point of the proposition and swiftly discussing it with a snapshooting at seeming variance with his big and almost ponderous bulk. Preliminary to the draft of the proposed law creating the home industrial army, which it is understood has already been laid before the governments of the various German states and is being pushed urgently by the imperial government, which already has called conferences of the political parties to discuss the subject, there is a rumor that the Reichstag will be convened on December 5. This rumor is as yet unverified and is doubted in many quarters.

BURGLAR ONLY BORROWS.
TOLEDO, Nov. 21.—Alice and Louise Worthington were bound in their beds last night by a burglar who looted their apartment. "Are you working girls?" the burglar asked. Receiving an affirmative reply, he left $2 or the $12 he had found and promised to return the $10. He said he had just been released from prison and took this method of borrowing money.

AUTHOR SOON TO WED, ANNOUNCED

Dr. William Frederic Bade to Claim Southern Girl As His Bride.

Dr. William Frederic Bade is again to join the ranks of the benedictines. The announcement of the betrothal of this much-sought-after scholar who has won for himself a high position in the academic life of America to Miss Elizabeth Le Breton Marston is being made by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. George White Marston of San Diego. The interest of that wide circle of friends whom Dr. Bade claims about the bay of course centers in she who is to become his wife and take her place in their marital life. Miss Marston has been a leading figure in the executive affairs of the San Diego Exposition, being a member of the Woman's Board and taking an active part in the carrying on of their efforts. Since taking her degree from Wellesley College, where she graduated with honors, she has given her time largely to public welfare work.

Like her father, she has devoted to outdoor athletics and has made a record for herself along many lines. The Marston family is a prominent one in Southern California, both in its social, intellectual and financial spheres. Miss Marston's father is president of the board of trustees of Pomona College. He is head of the Marston Company in San Diego, where the family is located. Dr. Bade is at present in Boston. He is engaged in the writing of a new book on the "Life and Letters of John Muir," of whom he is a great admirer. He is also editing of one of Muir's journals written a half century ago, is a task which he has just brought to a conclusion. Since leaving California, Dr. Bade has addressed addresses before the Geographical Society in Philadelphia and on Old Testament subjects at Winchester, Massachusetts. His book, "The Old Testament in the Light of Today," was pronounced by Colonel Roosevelt to be one of the three foremost books of American literature of recent years. The statement was publicly made before the Academy of Arts this month. Dr. Bade has been a widower for several years, the death of his wife following but a few months after their marriage.

Robber Goes Fifty-Fifty With Victim

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 21.—After taking $40 from Miss Jean Marshall, a Western fugitive, D. C., a burglar who entered the girl's room in the Colonial Annex Hotel, Sixth street and Penn avenue, divided the booty with her, giving her $20. Before making his escape, the burglar refused to take Miss Marshall's jewelry, but bade her good-morning and disappeared down a fire escape. Miss Marshall's experience with the "gentleman burglar" had long been remembered, she said. She told the police a noise in her room awakened her about 5:30 o'clock. She could not see, but was suddenly startled by a flash from a flashlight in the hands of a stylishly dressed young man, aged about 20. Miss Marshall said she screamed. "Keep quiet, girlie—nothing wrong, and I'm sorry to disturb you," he said, according to Miss Marshall. "How much money have you got?" "My purse is on the dresser," explained the frightened girl. The burglar walked over to the dresser and opened the purse, taking two $20 bills. "This is all you got?" he asked. Miss Marshall said she explained it was all she had, with the exception of 11 cents. Well, girlie, I'll be fair and we'll split fifty-fifty," was the burglar's proposition, as he walked over to the dresser and placed a bill in her hand, pushing the other $20 into his pocket. Before leaving the intruder, according to Miss Marshall, explained he would take the key with him to prevent her from opening the door and calling for assistance. "Good morning, and I'll leave the way I came," were his last words, Miss Marshall told the police.

Rats Stole; Small Boys Were Blamed

GEORGETOWN, Del., Nov. 21.—Suspecting that sneak thieves had been stealing from her home for the last few years, and, in her mind, accusing small boys of the mischief, Mrs. Bessie Hudson was shocked to regain the lost articles when workmen, in making repairs to the kitchen floor, found them strewn in different places under the boards, where rats had dragged them. For the last two years Mrs. Hudson had been missing various articles, including three silver spoons, a silver dinner bell, a comb case and other small articles. She supposed that children were systematically stealing from her home and set various traps, but never caught them. Now she has found that the rats did the mischief and the articles have been recovered.
